BOARD OF ALDERMEN

With the longest docket of the year, the board of aldermen held one of the shortest sessions of the season. Those present included President Weston, and Aldermen Avery, Bosson, Burr, Converse, Day, Doherty, Gray, Jones, Leonard, Palmer, Stone, Underwood, Webster, White and William-son.

The hearings on petitions of Mary B. Cobb to remove a tree on Lake avenue, Mrs. Persis T. Bray to remove a tree on Cypress street, and of the Telephone Co. for attachments on Washington street, and Auburndale avenue, attracted neither approbation nor opposition.

Alderman Day who has filed a notice to reconsider orders adopted at the last meeting for $1200 for a police automobile, and $1800 for employment of an inspector during the erection of the new Technical High School, stated that he desired to charge these amounts to different accounts than at first designated. These orders were therefor reconsidered and the same amounts authorized again and charged to a transfer from an existing account.

The proclamation of the acting governor as to Arbor Day and a communication from Mr. Shirley P. Draper relative to speed of electric cars on Commonwealth avenue were placed on file.

These petitions were referred: W. F. Hadlock et al for concrete sidewalks under betterment act on Lexington street, S. W. Holmes for street watering on Bellevue street, Wm. Dyer for sewer in Oak terrace, T. W. Byrne & Co. relative to electrical work at the Stearns School, Thos. Wentworth for change of street lines at Centre and Clark streets, Estate of Angelo Delorenzo claiming damages for death, and these petitions for laying out of streets under the betterment act: Jones et al, Chaske avenue, Sullivan et al, Washburn avenue, De Lorey et al, Kaposia street, and Weather et al, Winona street, McNeil et al, Ovis street and Sullivan et al, Newell road.

These petitions were granted: W. H. Seeley Co., to sell second hand articles, Estate John Kenney, wagon, M. L. Flaherty, 3 pool tables, Wm. Sweatt & Co., Common Victualer, Young & Thompson, 2 power boats on Charles river, P. F. Connell, minor's license, C. H. McIntosh, wagon and American Express Co., wagon licenses.

These petitions were given leave to withdraw: Sam Wax, junk license, Idel Katz, junk license, C. H. McIntosh, permit to transport intoxicating liquor.

Hearings on May 11 were ordered on petitions of the Telephone Co. for locations on Linwood avenue, and attachments on Montvale road, Brookline street, and Chestnut street, and on petition of W. Z. Ripley to remove tree on Pleasant street.

On recommendation of committees, $41.38 was ordered paid Capt. John Ryan of the police department for back pay, a sewer ordered in Langley road, water mains in Albemarle road, Carlton road and Everett street, Bellevue street ordered watered, $37, 163 granted for city expenses to May 15, Soldier's relief granted Geo. W. Dearborn, the mayor given authority to sell the guns formerly used at the High School, certain sewer charges approved, and hearings ordered on May 11 on laying concrete sidewalks under the betterment act on Walnut street, and on Parker street, and on taking land for sewers in Unity street, Myrtle avenue and Lake avenue.

Leave to withdraw was granted on claims of S. E. Manson for damages from sewer on Cook street and to Emma J. Morse for damages caused by falling tree.

It was also voted to charge each abuttor on a new concrete sidewalk five cents per square yard for the necessary sub-grading for such sidewalk.

The ordinance relative to the police department was amended to provide for a chief inspector and an inspector.

The long list of licenses printed in last week's GRAPHIC were reported upon by the license committee, almost all favorably. Those granted leave to withdraw include Geo. F. Hall, for pool tables and alloys on Watertown st., Francis Carvell for wagon license and permit to transport liquor, Wm. L. Carney, J. J. Jones, H. Butters, J. F. Shea, C. F. Driscoll, W. C. McIntosh, and Nanly and Son for liquor transportation permits, and Max Silverman and Abraham Laff for junk licenses.

Before the permits to transport intoxicating liquors were granted Alderman Palmer explained the position taken by the committee. In answer to question of Alderman Avery.

Leave to withdraw was granted the Telephone Co. on its petition to locate poles on Knowles st.

Orders were also passed granting the Telephone Co. attachments on Faxon and Crescent streets and relocations of poles on Washington street at Beacon st., authorizing the City Clerk to make tender of award for land taken for widening Washington street near Beacon street, and establishing the junk license fee at $25.

In response to a letter sent out by the Newton Association asking relief for the Chelsea Association whose building was destroyed by fire over $75.00 has already been sent in. This money has been sent to the State committee of which Louis F. Crossett is chairman. A tent has been purchased and placed in a park in the centre of the burnt district. Furnishings have been secured, a reading and writing room provided, also a lunch stand. Religious services will be held in this tent Sunday afternoon and week day evenings.

The Chelsea Association lost their building, furnishings and all records. Associations of Massachusetts and Rhode Island are extending a helping hand in this time of need.

The senior membership is 209 the largest it has ever been.

CITY OFFICIALS GUESTS OF EMPLOYEES

A meeting, unique in the history of this city, was that held in Hibernian hall, Nonantum square, last Friday evening. Mayor Hutchinson, the board of aldermen, and city officials connected with the street and water departments were the guests of Newton City Employees Protective Union, 12280, and there was a large gathering to meet the city fathers. President Jeremiah J. Herlihy presided.

In addition to the representatives of the city government and department heads the speakers included prominent officials of the American federation of labor. Thomas Nolan, secretary of the legislative committee of the state branch of the federation, spoke of the half holidays and payment for legal holidays enjoyed by the employees of other cities.

Mayor Hutchinson, the second speaker, was given an ovation. He declared that he was anxious that the city employees should at all times receive fair treatment, and urged that all differences be adjusted if possible by conference between representatives of the union and the city officials. He paid warm tribute to the many old employees present, whom he said had put in the best years of their lives in faithful work for the city.

Street Commissioner Charles W. Ross was warmly received and expressed a willingness to meet the men at any time to adjust differences. He said that he believed practically all the employees were rendering a fair day's work. Frank McCarthy, general organizer of the American federation of labor, said that the union should not be considered by city officials as a hostile body. "Trades unionism has done more toward better workmanship than any other one cause in the country," said he. "Home conditions must be pleasant to secure ideal work. The conditions of the homes depend upon the amount of revenue brought into them." He declared that a higher degree of civilization means a higher degree of intelligence and morality, and called upon the members of the city government to help the union realize these conditions. He urged that Newton establish a standard of labor conditions that may be copied by every city in the country. "A wage of $2 a day is not sufficient to maintain a home," he asserted. "Wages should be increased more than the cost of living increases." Mr. McCarthy said he believed a meeting such as that he was addressing would accomplish more good results than 20 meetings held separately. He declared that the shirker occasionally found in the ranks of the workers is despised and is injurious to the organization.

Alderman E. B. Bosson said that he was heartily in sympathy with the organization. "Labor ought to have its just deserts," said he, "and no city should hire labor at unfair wages." He said the executive department of the city was better able to understand labor conditions than the aldermen.

Alderman William J. Doherty urged that all differences be settled by arbitration. "Loyalty, honesty and sobriety should be your guiding stars," he declared. Alderman Frank A. Day, chairman of the finance committee, said he wished to do all he could to make the workmen contented.

George F. Stuart, deputy street commissioner, said the meeting was a notable event in that it was the first time in the history of the city that the mayor had met in one body the employees of the street and water departments. "Newton is the only city in the state doing all its construction work by day labor instead of letting it out by contract," said he.

City Engineer Irving T. Farnham said the city officials were with the employees and wanted the employees to be with them. Water Commissioner J. Clifton Whitney, Daniel O'Connell, chairman of the democratic city committee; Ex-Alderman E. B. Bosson, Alderman Charles D. Cabot, Ex-Alderman Thomas J. Lyons, who asserted that Newton's laborers were as good as those of any city in the state and should receive a fair wage; Alderman Frederick W. Stone, Alderman Howard P. Converse, Alderman F. S. Webster, Alderman Allston Burr and Alderman C. F. Avery also spoke. Each of the speakers received hearty applause, and at the conclusion of the meeting Mayor Hutchinson and the other guests were given a rising vote of sincere appreciation.

The meeting was pronounced one of the most interesting ever held by the flourishing union, and the officers who had charge of the arrangements received many congratulations.

FREE LIBRARY REPORT

The following extracts from the annual report of the Newton Free Library, will undoubtedly be of interest.

Report of Trustees

The year which has just closed has been one of marked activity in all departments of the library. There has been an increase in circulation of 22,383 volumes which is the largest for any year so far recorded in the annual reports. Two plans which were tentatively adopted in the previous year and which have been considerably developed during the present have proved to be very successful.

One of these plans known as the Duplicate Pay Collection Plan, enables card holders to obtain the newest fiction from both the main library and the branches by paying two cents per day for each book taken out. This change is sufficient to pay the cost of all books bought for the Pay Collection; and it is expected in the near future that it will as well furnish sufficient funds to meet the cost of all fiction the library purchases. During the year there were about one hundred new titles bought for this Pay Collection.

The other plan known as the Deposit Collection Plan, gives card holders living at distant points of the City an opportunity to select from the several hundred volumes which have been put upon the shelves at the various branches. As the books in these Deposit Collections are being frequently changed, those who from time to time come to the branches for books have found on the shelves literature in one form or another in which they were interested and which they have at once taken away. When card holder's wants can thus be immediately satisfied the delay under the old method is avoided. If the books desired are not to be obtained at the branch, cards can be sent to the main library as heretofore.

This general plan of depositing books at the branch libraries is one which the Trustees believe can be developed to the great advantage of the City. Newton is made up of villages with its main library situated in one of these where it is not easily accessible to many of the residents of the City. Because of the inconvenience heretofore attending the use of library books through the branches many families living in wards other than one and seven have made no use of them whatever. It is the intention of the Trustees to increase the number of books at the various branches. Eventually it is hoped that there will be kept at each branch a Deposit Collection of at least one thousand (1000) books as well as a Pay Collection. The library is supported by taxes imposed on citizens in all parts of the City, and so far as its resources will permit it is the intention of this Board to give all as equal a share as possible in its benefits. There are now six branch libraries and early in the coming year there will be an additional one opened in the new school house at Newton Highlands. Furnishings and reference books for this branch are being purchased from funds supplied by the Newton Highlands Improvement Association and others interested. The branch at Nonantum will soon be moved into an attractive room in the new school building which is about ready for occupancy.

The work which is now being done at the branches needs for its successful prosecution careful supervision under a well devised system. The Trustees feel that it will soon be necessary to appoint a Superintendent of branches, who under the authority of the Librarian shall have direct charge of this important department.

Report of Librarian.

The end of the year shows an increase in the service of the library in many directions.

The only change which has been made in the library hours is in the morning when the doors are now opened at eight instead of ten o'clock. This change which began on June 10th has been helpful to those wishing to leave books when on their way to Boston, and also to many readers who have preferred to come early to the library.

The number of books added during the year is 2642. Of these 278 have been gifts and 168 are bound volumes of magazines. The total number here at the main library is now 64,360 with several thousands more at the branches. Your Board has for some time had under consideration the matter of weeding out the unused books in the West Newton Branch. Nearly 6000 books were in that collection, some of them quite out of date, many duplicates of the books at the central library, and others old and shabby. A beginning has been made in this direction, and 1128 books have already been discarded. As many as ten large mail sacks have been filled with government reports, etc. and sent to Washington to the Superintendent of Public Documents. 686 works of fiction have been withdrawn and books from other classes are to follow. This will leave room at this branch for more books of current interest to be placed there on deposit from the main library.

The two new branches, one at Nonantum and one at Newtonville, have proved very helpful and been a means of increasing the library's usefulness in those sections of the city. All the branches now have deposits of books from the main library and at your desire these deposits are being increased, so that they number from 300 to 1000 according to the needs and the shelving capacity of the different branches.

The circulation for 1907 is larger than it has been during any other year in the library's history. The highest previous figures were 170,006 in 1899. This year 185,133 books were circulated, besides 10,989 which were taken from the Duplicate Pay Collection—thus making a home circulation of 196,122. One cause for this increase is doubtless the facilities for drawing the books from the branches with the larger collection there from which to choose.

The Duplicate Pay Collection, which is a selection of recent works mostly fiction, that readers may take by the payment of 2 cents a day proved so popular last year at Newton Centre that the experiment was extended this year to the main library and to three more branches. It has proved a great success in itself, and has also saved the city money already in the way of the outlay needed for fiction—since out of the 278 books referred to above as gifts, 161 were given to the library from this collection—being works that had served their usefulness in the Pay Collection. Since the commencement of this undertaking in May, 1906 the library has received from readers $937.88. 758 books have been bought for this collection and $783.25 paid for books, bookcases and needed appliances. This leaves a balance Dec. 31, of $154.63, together with 597 books in addition to the 161 given to the library.

The work of reclassifying the library books, with the efficient help of the assistant in charge, is still progressing, although slowly, on account of the small force of assistants. The large amount of work to be accomplished. Card catalogues are being put into the branches, and the printed cards from the Congressional Library at Washington are bought for this purpose.

The Young People's Room continues to be one of the most important parts of the library. The assistant there is doing admirable work. Every Saturday morning an hour is spent either in reading with the children or in explaining how to use the library and its reference works. Pictures are displayed frequently, when some anniversary of historic importance arrives or some current event can be illustrated.

The use of the fine collection of photographs and other pictures has been much larger the past year than ever before. Nearly 6000 pictures have been sent to clubs, individuals or schools, to say nothing of the sets of stereoscopic views in almost daily demand.

A beginning has been made on a collection of lantern slides which are for the benefit of those desiring to use them in lectures or any other entertainments. The library has slides on Egypt, the various countries of Europe, the West Indies, and Venezuela. It is now desired to increase the number with slides for the study of the United States which will be of great help to the public schools. Printed lists of the new accessions of photographs and pictures have been printed in the monthly bulletin of new books. The first assistant has also prepared special lists of books on various topics of current interest which have also appeared in the bulletins.

An ever-increasing amount of work in the Reference Room in the way of assisting readers, club members and students has been done by the reference assistant. A list of the wants, questions asked and information sought has been kept and the variety in the demands shows to what an extent one's resources can be taxed.

The call from the schools and teachers shows a more active interest. The circulation for the year, 21,427, marks a gain of 2160 over last year's circulation.

The music collection has been augmented by the addition of 189 volumes including many opera scores and works of modern composers.

The reading rooms have been opened on Sundays from 2 to 6 p. m. during six months of the year, that is from Jan. 1 to May 1 and in November and December. The attendance has been fairly good, sufficient at least to warrant the extra expense. The number registered at the main library was 1787. At the six branches a very good number made use of the Sunday privilege.

The assistants have throughout the year responded with faithfulness and efficiency to the many calls upon them.

Respectfully submitted,
ELIZABETH P. THURSTON,
Librarian.

THEATRES

Tremont Theatre—"The Man of the Hour" continues the marvel of the Boston stage. Its success at the Tremont is unabated. It has outlasted every other attraction, dramatic or musical, of the year and the end is not yet. "The Man of the Hour" is one of the big, vital forceful plays, that come once in a generation. Broadhurst had a message to convey—a message of absorbing interest to every man and woman who thinks. The popularity of such a play has no geographical limitations. East, West North and South it's appeal has been insistent. Brady and Grismer found it necessary to organize four special companies for broadcast representation. Newspapers from Coast to Coast have lent editorial endorsement of its splendid mission. "The success of 'The Man of the Hour' is in the air everywhere." It has reached its 125th performance in Boston, is entering upon its fifth month and will soon have a record of 250,000 New Englanders who have seen and enjoyed this famous play at the Tremont Theatre.

Boston Theatre.—In announcing the first stock production of David Belasco's famous play "The Girl of the Golden West" at the Boston Theatre next week Manager Morison gives another evidence of his desire to secure for his patrons all that is latest and best in the line of dramatic literature. The Boston Theatre performances will be made with the original costumes, properties and lighting effects while the stage mechanics will be assisted by the heads of departments who are identified with the New York presentation. Eleanor Gordon who has been absent from the company for two weeks returns to play the title part which was written for and created by Blanche Bates and the hero will be played by Wilson Melrose.

FOUNDERS MEMORIAL

The New Building at the Newton Hospital

Unusual interest is centered in the very attractive new building just completed, and which is to be presented to the Newton Hospital Corporation with appropriate dedicatory exercises, this afternoon at which ex-Gov. John D. Long will make the principal address.

The new building is located just north of the present group of Hospital buildings on land recently acquired, and included in the gift with the building.

Our illustration shows a good example of the Colonial type of architecture built of red-faced brick with marble trimmings and represents the latest type of hospital construction.

Messrs. Kendall, Taylor & Co. are the architects—the builder, the late Henry H. Hunt of West Newton.

As one passes through the carved marble door-way, he enters a spacious

New Building at Newton Hospital, Dedicated To-day.

octagonal rotunda, from which the corridors radiate to right and left and to the rear of the building. To the right is the office, and waiting room for guests and patients, matron and clerk.

In the rear of these are the stairs and a large elevator capable of carrying a full-length stretcher or ambulance carriage for patients. All is enclosed in fire-proofed walls, shutting off danger from fire and all sounds from story to story. Opposite, there is a large Diet-kitchen for the preparation of food for patients. This Dietkitchen on the first floor is connected with the Diet-kitchen in the basement and the second story by dumb-waiter.
This Diet-kitchen contains all the up-to-date appurtenances of rooms of this kind.

Four private rooms with toilets are located on the southern end of the building. There is also a spacious airing balcony where convalescents can be taken. Another airing balcony is on the easterly side, approaches to the same being from the main corridor or direct from the large open ward, in which there are accommodations for ten patients. Adjoining this ward are toilets and various accessories and the baby-room. The walls of all the rooms are sound-proofed, and the doors are double in thickness in order to avoid the passage of sounds from room to room and to other parts of the Hospital.

In the second story there are eleven private rooms, toilets, diet-kitchen and the baby-room, all being sound-proofed same as on the first floor. On this floor also there are two airing balconies with access to same from corridor, and in some instances from the rooms themselves.

On the third floor are toilets, storerooms and large isolating room, two special bed-rooms for doctors or guests. On this floor also is a fully equipped nurses utility room and sterilizing room with equipments second to none.

The basement is devoted to disinfecting room, a large diet-kitchen, X-ray and dark room. The connection with the other Hospital buildings is made by means of a semi-submerged corridor.

Perhaps the most unusual feature about this unusual gift is the fact that the building is to be completely furnished when given. This includes, not only the complete furnishing of the individual rooms, but the full equipment of the diet-kitchen and sterilizing rooms, etc., every part of the building ready for patients—all this in addition to the land and building—and the grounds are now being handsomely laid out.

The building gives twenty-five additional beds as a new equipment for the Newton Hospital, and provides for the care of private surgical cases of both sexes, public maternity wards and for private maternity cases. The exceptional desirability of the building, its beautiful location, its superb equipments, coupled with the service now being rendered by the Newton Hospital, will certainly make this a very delightful place to go to if one must be ill.

Nearly opposite to the main entrance of the building is a bronze tablet on which the following inscription appears:

The Founders Memorial
In recognition of those who labored to found a Hospital in Newton and to further their beneficent work, this Memorial Building and grounds have been presented to the Hospital Corporation

by Mellen Bray
1903.

A full account of the dedicatory exercises will be given in the next issue of the Graphic.
It is wonderfully sad to think that Mr. Bray, the man who has spent so much time in planning for this building, the man who gives it in the most self-sacrificing spirit will, in all probability, be unable to see the building again.

PI ETA THEATRICALS.

An audience, which made up in quality and enthusiasm, whatever it might have lacked in numbers, greeted the Pi Eta Society, at the annual theatricals, held in Players Hall, West Newton, last Wednesday evening.

The play was entitled "The Title Seekers," a musical comedy in two acts, and was both musical and laughable. The singing was particularly good, albeit, it was strange to hear such a volume of bass voices from a chorus of such strikingly good looking
"girls." Mr. R. D. and H. L. Murphy, the former the author of the play, had a beautiful duet in the second act, in which their voices blended perfectly.
Mr. H. L. Murphy's song, "Barcarolle" was very pleasing. The drinking song by a double quartet was also good.
Mr. P. P. Marion and Mr. H. G. Tomlin had a clever topical song, entitled "Stories" which received several en-cores, and the verse jolly Major Hutchinson on the "rum" question received great applause. Mr. L. M. Pot-

MRS. HARRIET H. LORD

That "The Unseen World seems to grow nearer and nearer as one after another enters its joys" is impressed upon our minds today as we pause for a little to lay down our wreath of remembrance for our beloved friend, Mrs. Lord.

Though a native of the state of Maine, Mrs. Lord has been a resident of this city since 1870, and her influence has always been for the highest and best. The wife of a physician, her circle was large, her sympathy read.

Well-read and broad-minded, she was admirably fitted for positions of responsibility.

For many years she was President of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Central Congregational church, Newtonville, and also served the church most efficiently as a deaconess for four years. She was a member of Charity Square and indeed was devoted to all the interests of the church of which she was a loyal member.

The West Newton Educational Club will remember her as a helpful and active member in the years past.
To those who knew her best her forgetfulness of self and her devotion to others stand out as her most prominent characteristics. She never allowed her own inclinations to interfere with what she considered her duty. During the last weeks of suffering, her patience and loving thoughtfulness have been especially marked.

Her handsomeness and stately presence her gracious personality, her helpful spirit and her keen sense of humor will long be remembered, and we lay down our wreath of remembrance, grateful that we have known her.

She died on the morning of April 28th, at the home of her only surviving child, Mrs. Dr. David E. Baker, Newtonville, with whom she has always made her home.

ter carried off a difficult part in a credible manner, his "imitations" which developed into a series of terrible facial contortions, being cleverly done. The grotesque costumes of the gipsy band, including a toy balloon on the coat tail of one gipsy, was very funny and brought down the house.
The pony ballet, which is one of the features of every Pi Eta show, was encored again and again, and the shimmering costumes, and graceful dancing was well worth the applause. The calcium effects did not add as much as they might to this part of the performance, and it seemed as if the general effect would have been improved with the ordinary stage lights. The scenery was excellent, the moonlight scene in the first act being well set.
The list of patronesses included many society ladies of the city.

Prof. Charles Zueblin of the University of Chicago will speak in Faneuil Hall, Sunday, May 3rd at 3 P. M.
Subject: Representative Government versus Democracy. The public is cordially invited.

A GREAT TRUTH

There was a man in our town,
And he was lobster wise;
He thought he'd run his business right
And never advertise.

He filled the store with lots of goods—
Good goods they were, and low in price; But not a word said he
To let the people know.

They had the money in their clothes,
They had the wish to buy,
And this wise man, who knew they

Of printer's ink was shy.

The quality and price, he thought,
Were quite enough to win,
And so he waited day by day
To see the trade rush in.

But did it rush? Oh, yes it rushed,
And he was sore surprised To see it rush across the street
To where they advertised.

The lobster-wise one stuck it out;
The quality and price
Of what he had he knew would win,
And they would quite suffice.

At last the sheriff came around
To make the thing complete,
And then the lobster-wise one got A job across the street.

HELP THE HELPLESS!

(With apologies to Kipling.)
When you've seen the Chelsea ruins,
And you've wondered at the sight,
When you've wandered through each devastated street,
Will you kindly give a dollar, or a ten,
To set things right,
And help to put the people on their feet?
There are many, many of them who to-day have lost their all,
You do not have to hunt around to find them.
Will you help them in their trouble,
Will you listen to their call?
Will you do your level best to stand behind them?

Rich folks—poor folks—destitute all to-day!
Fifteen thousand homeless, lacking the means to live!
Do as you'd be done by, if trouble came your way!
Heed the hat for your credit's sake,
and give—give—give!

There are children who are hungry—will you help to give them bread?
Their fathers look in vain for work to do.
There are thousands homeless, helpless, and for weeks they must be fed,
And now in their distress they turn to you.
"There are families" among them "far too proud to beg or speak,"
You will not have to hunt around to find them!

Will you let them "live on nothing,"
Rich folks—poor folks—destitute all to-day!
Fifteen thousand homeless, lacking the means to live!

Do as you'd be done by, if trouble came your way!
Heed the hat for your credit's sake,
and give—give—give!

They are very far from beggars, but they need your help to-day.
Silent sufferers, for your sympathy they sue.
Try to think of your position, if your home were swept away,
And do as you'd have others do for you!

For the homeless must be sheltered, and the hungry must be fed.
You will not have to hunt around to find them!

It's only their misfortune to be left without a bed,
And we all must do our best to stand behind them!

Rich folks—poor folks—destitute all to-day!
Fifteen thousand homeless, lacking the means to live!

Do as you'd be done by, if trouble came your way!
Heed the hat for your credit's sake,
and give—give—give!

POMROY HOME ENTERTAINMENT

An interesting entertainment was given last Wednesday afternoon in the Channing church parlors, Newton, by the Orphan Girls of the Pomroy Home.

The program included the singing of "The Lost Chord" and various songs by all the girls the recitation of the 25th chapter of Matthew in unison, fancy marching, wand, ball and club drill by the older girls, and recitations by Lilly Nelson and Lydia Hiller. The "Slumber Boat" and the Baby Polka by four little tots were greatly appreciated by the large audience.

Tickets sold at 10 cents each brought $160. As an added incentive to the children, they were told that if they sold tickets to the value of $100, a good friend would add $100 to that amount. So over $250 will go to the Chelsea sufferers, as a result of this entertainment. An interesting and probably unique lesson is given by this performance. None are too poor to help those more unfortunate than themselves. It was a pleasure to see the happiness which these girls felt in the thought of doing good to others. Moreover the excellence of the work done was a credit to the home training and to the ability of the girls.

Those taking part were Josephine Berg, Ida and Jennie Wandless, Elizabeth Wood, Lydia and Maria Hiller, Mary and Clara Rogers, Rena and Etta Swett, Lilly Nelson, Christine Young and Ruth Pickering.

Women's Clubs.

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

The West Newton Educational Club enjoyed a delightful luncheon at the Brae Burn Country Club on the occasion of its annual meeting last Friday afternoon. The artistic interior of the clubhouse made an attractive setting for the animated faces and lovely costumes of the club members. A large representation of the club members filled the numerous tables in the dining room, which were decorated with tulips. The president's table was filled with the club officers and members of the Executive committee. At the close of the luncheon, after a short address of welcome from the president, Mrs. A. H. Clifford, the toastmistress, Mrs. William Blakemore was introduced. Mrs. Blakemore's witty introductions to the following toasts were highly appreciated. Mrs. Thomas M. Elwell responded to "Our Country," Mrs. George F. Lowell to "Woman," Mrs. George D. Byfield to "Our Club," Mrs. Charles Eager to "New Members," "Our President" was responded to by Mrs. Kathleen M. Phipps, to which Mrs. Clifford replied in a few well chosen words.

A ready response from each club member, with quotations from Whit-Tier closed the post prandial exercises. A business meeting was held later in the assembly room of the clubhouse, with Mrs. Clifford presiding. Annual reports were read by the secretary, Mrs. Chas. E. A. Ross, the treasurer, Mrs. Jessie Fisher, the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ernest F. Dow, and the chairmen of various committees, Mrs. I. T. Farnham, Art and Literature, Mrs. Frank C. YOU DON'T HAVE TO

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular druggist printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

This does not mean that you are compelled to take your prescription to the druggist whose name appears on the paper.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

The prescription department in our store is always watched over by a registered pharmacist; a doctor's prescriptions are always filled exactly according to the way he intended they should be filled.

The stable is warmed in the coldest weather by hot water. The stock is pure Jersey, inspected by the State, and examined before purchase.

THEATRES

Kelth's Theatre.—Houdini is proving at Kelth's this week that he is without a doubt the greatest drawing card vaudeville has ever known. His new feats, particularly the one in which he is submerged in a big galvanized iron can, are the most perplexing he has yet done in Boston, and he promises still more mysterious for the coming week, the law, by the way, that he will play in Boston for several years.

A capital surrounding bill, one of the best of the season, will include the Elinore Sisters, Kate and May, the greatest pair of comedienne now in vaudeville. In their latest merit-making, "The Actress and the Maid," Goleman's troupe of wonderfully trained cats, dogs and pigeons, the most marvellous of all acts of the kind and a feature at the New York Hippodrome for the past six months. Patrice, that winsome soubrette, in her pretty playlet, "A New Year's Dream," Mareena, Navarro and Mareena, in a droll acrobatic comedy turn; Clifford and Burke, two of vaudeville's best blackface entertainers; Henry D. Gardner, of Bankers' Theatre, in a new monologue of stories and songs; the Mive Musical Spillers, in a "Hurrar" instrumental act; Brande and Witton, slick dancers; Jeanne and Ellsworth, in a novel conception, and new Kinetograph pictures.

AUTO CHAINS BARRED

Beginning the first day of May no automobiles equipped with tire chains, armored or metal-studded tires, or other devices of metal designed to give the driver a grip on the roadway will be permitted to be driven on any of the parkways under the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Park Commission under penalty of a fine of not more than $20. An order embodying this prohibition has recently been framed by the commissioners and will become effective on Friday. The order reads as follows:

"No person shall have in his control or operate upon any roadway, driveway or parkway an automobile which has upon, about or affixed to any wheel or the tire of any wheel thereof, a chain or any metal lurr, metal stud or other projection of metal which may come in contact with the surface of such roadway, driveway or parkway."

It is the claim of the commission that the chains and studded tires tend to increase the wear of automobile traffic by tearing up the road surface. Such devices are used to prevent skidding and their prohibition will necessitate much more careful driving on wet days. As the Metropolitan Park Commission controls many of the roadways most favored by automobilists, such as Revere Beach Parkway, Felsway, Mystic valley parkway, and Blue Hills parkway, the prohibition will mean practically the abolition of anti-skid devices of metal. Commonwealth avenue and the Fenway are under the jurisdiction of the Boston Park Commission and the Newton boulevard is not included in the Metropolitan system, but as other park authorities often follow the lead of the Metropolitan Commission, it would not be surprising if the rule were put in force elsewhere. Last fall the board which has charge of Central Park, Riverside Drive and other park roads in New York City issued a similar rule. It was opposed by the automobilists, but went into force and apparently has worked well.

A special exhibition of Henry Roseland's story telling pictures is now being held at Gill's Art Galleries, 673 Boylston street, Boston. Art lovers in this city are specially invited to attend.

SPRINGFIELD COMPLAINED

It may be complimentary to Springfield that Newton should look upon it as a training school for public school teachers, but it is nevertheless disturbing to the school authorities, for the situation brought about is one that is difficult to meet. Newton has found itself similarly affected by Boston's demand for teachers, and has been paying salaries sufficiently large to draw teachers from Springfield, which is usually regarded as a pleasant place in which to live. Springfield can hardly afford to compete with Newton in the matter of salaries.

The census bureau in 1905 showed that Newton, with the exception of Spotswood, Wash., and Pueblo, Col., had a total school expense per capita larger than any other city in the country, $7.90, as against $7.22 for Boston and $6.93 for Springfield, both of which were far above the average. In the matter of the amount paid per capita for salaries of teachers alone Newton was shown to be second only to Pueblo. The figures of some of the cities paying more than Springfield are as follows: Pueblo, $8.56; $5.14; Newton, $4.71; Spokane, $4.56; Salt Lake City, $4.54; Boston, $4.50; Oakland, Cal., $4.34; Butte, Mont., $4.24; Denver, Col., $4.25; Sacramento, Cal., $4.25; New York, $4.06; and Seattle, Wash., $3.92. Springfield's figure was $3.91. Since 1905, however, Newton has readjusted the teacher's salaries, paying more now than then, and not being confined to a certain limit. Obviously Springfield cannot tax its citizens so heavily for teachers' salaries, for the school budget is already very large.

There is a troublesome problem for the school committee, but one which will probably work itself out in time. Springfield Republican.

MILK AS A FOOD

Milk contains all the ingredients needed for nourishment, that is, it furnishes the materials which build up the body and keep it in repair and also those which supply it with fuel to keep it warm and furnish the animal machine with the power needed to do its work.

A PERFECT MILK IS A PERFECT FOOD. Messrs. H. P. Hood & Sons, the pioneers in the milk business and the originators of hygienic methods in the production of PURE, CLEAN and SAFE milk in the country years previous to any measures being taken by the Boards of Health or U. S. Department of Agriculture, have through unceasing efforts for 62 years perfected a system which stands at the very head. Their aim is to supply the best milk, to have the same clean, safe and of first quality. They are unalterably opposed to reducing the standard of milk as lowering the percentage of butter fat, also will lower the proteids and the result can only be poor milk. A legal standard has been established and should be maintained in the interests of all consumers, producers and distributors of milk.

Criticism and suggestions will be gratefully received by this firm, and all interested are cordially invited by them to visit their chemical and bacteriological laboratory in Charlestown, also their Dairy Laboratory at 70 Huntington Avenue, Boston.

"THE FISH THAT GET AWAY."

We are in receipt of a little booklet from the publishers of RECREATION, New York, with the above title.

It is a delightfully humorous account of an alleged attempt to find an ardent fisherman of renown who would not exaggerate about the size of "the fish that get away."

The booklet is printed on fine paper, attractively illustrated and will appeal immensely to any man who "goes fishing." It is given free through the newsdealers of this city with the MAY number of RECREATION.

SPRING MEETING OF THE STATE FEDERATION

A large delegation of club women journeyed to Hudson by the special train on Tuesday morning, April 28, to attend the Spring Meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation. The overcast sky did not dampen the ardor in the feast and a most delightful day was enjoyed by all who went. Delegates from the hostess club met the women at the station and escorted them to the Town Hall where the sessions were to be held. In fact every detail for the comfort of the guests was most carefully attended to by the Hudson ladies and seldom have the arrangements for luncheon been more satisfactory or more complete.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. May Alden Ward, and the greeting was extended by the president of the Hudson Woman's Club, Mrs. Annie M. Houghton, to which Mrs. Ward responded in her usual happy manner. In introducing the speaker of the morning Mrs. May Wright Sewall, Mrs. Ward referred to the prejudice, criticism and ridicule which the first club women were obliged to face and noted the great change in conditions of women in all walks of life today.

Mrs. Sewall's subject was "Woman's Struggle for Industrial and Economic Independence," and she spoke for an hour most entertainingly upon the changes that have come about in the conditions of women in the last 100 years through the evolution of the industries. All kinds of work which are being done by women at present outside the home were formally done by the women in their homes. There seems to have been no objection to the women working, the only objection has been their being paid for their work. Mrs. Sewall referred to an autobiographical poem which Mr. Alcott read to the pupils of the Concord School of Philosophy, in which he went back to his grandmother's day and showed that 105 articles or utensils used by her had even in his time become obsolete in the home. She showed that the essentials of the home do not depend upon the size, but is absolutely where the heart is. The boundary of the home in the woman's heart is the circumference of humanity. The taking away of many of the employments from the home has started another kind of yearning. In the woman's heart and it has resulted in outside matters. Women have realized that the isolated life is the impossible life and have first found themselves in attempts to cooperate with others for others.

Miss George A. Bacon, chairman of the Local Biennial Board, made announcements concerning the plans for the coming Biennial and explained regarding the tickets of admission. Each club belonging to the State Federation, but not to the General Federation, will be allowed a certain number of tickets to sessions, but only those clubs holding direct membership in the General Federation will be entitled to delegates and alternates. Duplicate meetings will be held in the afternoons at Symphony Hall when the morning programs will be repeated; while in the evenings overflow meetings will be held in Chickering hall when the same program will be given as at Symphony Hall, only in reverse order. A skeleton program will be published in the Federation Bulletin of May giving the general plan of the meetings, but the special speakers cannot be announced until just beforehand.

A delicious luncheon was served at the close of the morning session in the vestries of the three neighboring churches, so that there was ample provision for all.

A resolution of sympathy for the Chelsea sufferers, especially for those members of the Chelsea Woman's Club, was also passed.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mr. Edward F. Bigelow, President of the Acadia Association who took for his subject "The Child and Nature."

Mr. Bigelow said in part: "Nature is not a fad, side issue, or triviality for the child. It is the whole thing, keeping in mind a civilized and refined point of view of nature. We adults should not teach nature but just let nature do the teaching—draw out the child. I believe in freedom for the child not discipline. We should not always stand above the child and teach it but let the child teach us. We older one build a world by ourselves and insist that the child shall conform to it. The world was made for children also. Why not we conform to that?"

Following Dr. Bigelow's address representatives of several of the clubs told of the work which they have been doing for the school children in interesting them in school or home gardens by furnishing seeds and offering prizes.

One new club was presented for membership, the Topics Club of Leicester, and the president, Miss Bertha W. Denny, told briefly of its line of work.

Before adjourning the meeting Mrs. Ward announced that the annual meeting will be held in Boston the last day of May, the New England Woman's Club being hostess. At that time the New England Club will celebrate its fortieth anniversary and the Federation its fifteenth. There will be an evening session to particularly mark this event followed by an all-day meeting for reports and election of officers.

It has been found necessary to wholly resurface the old tennis court which has caused some delay in getting them into playing condition. Work on the new ones is progressing slowly.

Mrs. M. Grant Edmunds of Chestnut Hill was elected president of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society of the East at the annual meeting held in Portland, Me., last week. Mrs. Alvah Hovey was elected a vice president and Mrs. Charles S. Young and Mrs. A. C. Walworth members of the board of directors.

What came near proving a fatal accident occurred Tuesday, when Mr. John Mulligan driving E. W. Conant's delivery wagon, was thrown to the ground landing on his head and being rendered unconscious for some time. The accident occurred through the collision with two coal teams which he was trying to pass between on Woodward street.

Mrs. F. A. Arend was the hostess at a large bridge whist given at her residence on Windsor road on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her guest, Mrs. J. B. Pitts of Chicago. Over 40 of Waban and out of town society women were present. The house was handsomely decorated. An artistic prize was given at each table and after the cards a spread was served.

The local nine won a second game from West Newton on Wednesday by a score of 9 to 3. The Waban team played poorly and with numerous errors, but a 9th inning rally pulled the game out of the fire. Isola made the longest hit, beating the throw in for a home run. But the only features for the home team were the playing of Cook and Capt. Williams, the former hit for 1000, and the latter won the game by a sharp single with a man on third trying to score, and later coming in with the winning run.

Lower Falls.

Job Monaghan and John G. Warren are members of a committee of 25 that is endeavoring to raise money for the purchase of the Elm Park property in Wellesley Hills for a town park. It is stated that contributions from the Lower Falls district are coming in rapidly.

Mrs. Rebecca E. Dunleavy, aged 53, wife of Michael Dunleavy died Sunday morning in the Carney hospital after an illness lasting two weeks. She was a native of Nova Scotia, but for many years had lived on Walnut street here and enjoyed a wide acquaintance. Besides a husband she leaves three sons and five daughters. The funeral took place Wednesday morning, high mass of requiem being celebrated by Rev. P. H. Callahan at St. John's church at 9 o'clock. There were many floral tributes.

PLAN OF CLAFLIN HOMESTEAD.

Claflin Homestead Report.

The following report of the receipts, expenses and acts of the committee in charge of the purchase of the Claflin estate is made public this afternoon. It is signed by Messrs. Frank A. Day, William F. Garcelon, Charles S. Dennison, J. R. Prescott, Robert S. Gorham, Charles E. Hatfield, Arthur C. Farley, Frank J. Hale, C. E. Kelsey, Ernest Winsor and James A. Lowell.

To the Subscribers:
The Committee for the purchase of this property takes pleasure in reporting the completion of the purchase of the First and Second Sections and in submitting this report to you whose generosity and public spirit have made this result possible.

As stated in the previous report, the First Section of about 280,000 square feet was secured in June, 1906, at a cost of $20,000, and deeded to the city of Newton for use as a high school athletic field. The city has built several tennis courts, and is now laying out the field for football and baseball.

The Second Section, comprising the site of the Governor Claflin mansion and the Walnut Street frontage of the estate and running west along Elm road to the athletic field, was conveyed to the city last fall, although it was only recently that sufficient funds were collected to cover the purchase price, $32,700. This section added some 390,000 square feet, giving the city in the two parcels a block of about sixteen acres.

The city purchased a lot of 12,500 square feet on Walnut street which did not belong to the Claflin estate, but had at one time been part of it, thus securing the entire frontage on that street south from Elm road to the first house.

To insure the future use of this property (the Second Section) in what the committee believed was the spirit of the donors, there was inserted in the deed to the city of Newton the following trust provision:

"but in trust, however, to be used as a site for the Technical Training High School building, the plans of which were endorsed by vote of the School Committee of said City on December 6, 1907, and for such other educational, aesthetic, and recreative purposes, and for such municipal and public purposes not detrimental to the above-named purposes, as may from time to time be approved by the Mayor and by vote of the Aldermen of said City and by vote of the persons who are from time to time the Board of Trustees of the Newton Free Library of said City; and no building other than said Technical Training High School building shall be erected on the granted premises until its site and design have also been approved as aforesaid."

Desiring to assist the architect of the Technical High School in locating that building on the Claflin estate so as to secure the best results for the rest of the property as well as this building, the committee with the cordial approval of the city authorities employed Messrs. Olmsted Brothers to advise from a landscape point of view. It is hoped that, before any further use is made of the property, a comprehensive plan of development of the whole will be made by competent landscape architects to the end that as improvements are made from time to time, they may be in harmony with what has already been done and with what may follow.

To the many who have assisted in raising the purchase money the committee wishes to express its sincere thanks. It desires to acknowledge the aid of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs which by its Bazaar last May did much to arouse in interest in the movement and directly added $1,831 to the purchase money; of Messrs. Hornblower & Weeks, who have acted as depositaries of the fund; and of the press of Newton and of Boston for its repeated and generous assistance.

It is gratifying to record the widespread interest in this project, not only among citizens of all parts of Newton, but among former residents, subscriptions having been received from London, Eng., California, New York City, and places nearer home.

The Third Section, so called,—that is, the part lying along Hull street and to the west of the houses on Walnut street,—will probably be available for purchase later, should it be found wise to attempt to raise the necessary funds therefor.

The financial statement shows receipts of $54,143.85 of which Newton gave $18,580, Newtonville $13,290.20, West Newton $9,120, Ward 4, $2,220, Ward 5, $1,000 and Ward 6, $7,645. The expenses include $20,000 as the cost of the first section, $32,700 for the second section. All subscriptions save $335 have been collected. A full list of the subscribers to the fund is printed in the report.

THOMPSONVILLE RECEPTION

The teachers of the Thompsonville school gave a delightful reception to the parents of pupils in that district, last Tuesday evening. The school was well filled with residents of the neighborhood, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Rice, Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Spaulding and Mr. S. O. Paul assisted in receiving.

An enjoyable program of music and readings followed, and Miss Mabel Hatfield of Wellesley as soloist, Miss Wallace and Miss Wilson, singing duets and Miss Skillen of Brookline, reader. Light refreshments were served. The teachers in charge of the affair were Miss Beatrice F. Gallagher, the principal and Misses Ethel M. Hulse, Jennie M. Priest, Maud C. Sullivan, Elma Benson and Alice H. Sylvester.

MEMORIAL WINDOW

The memorial window, given by Mrs. Jerome Jones of Brookline in memory of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Gane, was dedicated last Sunday morning after the usual services in the West Newton Unitarian church. Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the church, conducted the services.

The window was designed and manufactured by H. E. Goodhue of Cambridge. It is done in the arch design necessary to correspond with the Gothic interior of the church. At the top are conventional designs in colors, two figures with clasped hands occupying the centre. The lower portion is divided into three panels. That in the centre bears a female figure with half-drawn sword, representing Justice. Beneath this centre panel is the inscription: "Justice and Judgment are the Habitation of Thy House. In Memoriam." On the right, beneath a typifying figure, Reason, is a lamp and open book, surrounded by the words, "Come, Let Us Reason Together. Faith the Lord." Under this appears the name "Emily Sophia Gane," and the date of her death. On the opposite side, beneath the figure of Mercy, is a similar circle formed of the words of the Beatitudes, "Blessed are the Merciful, for They Shall Obtain Mercy." This surmounts the name of Henry Alfred Gane, with the date of his death.

Located in the nave of the church, on the westerly side, the window shows to excellent advantage, especially when the rays of the afternoon sun throw the beautiful tints of the leaded glass into relief.

The entire window, so rich in its coloring, is a fit addition to the others that are already in place.

The annual sale of Gas and Electric Lighting Fixtures and Fine Lamps, will be continued one week longer, by McKenney & Waterbury Co., No. 181 Franklin corner Congress street. An opportunity seldom offered to secure high grade lighting fixtures at a large reduction from regular prices.

Scientific Arch Supports
Reasonable Prices

Pain in the ankle, instep, knee or back is frequently caused by a broken or weakened arch in the foot. While relief is easy to find, yet many, misinformed, seek to relieve this condition by wearing arch supports which are stiff and unsympathetic. The bones of the foot have the same action as the bones of the hand, therefore an Arch Support that is resilient and will respond to every action of the foot, and still retain its gentle sustaining power on the muscles, is what is wanted. Such a support will give almost instant relief and a foot comfort that is otherwise unknown. The JORDAN ARCH SUPPORT is the only one on the market that brings this relief. Owing to the enormous demand for these goods we are enabled to sell them at the extremely low price of $2.00 PER PAIR. Send for pamphlet. In sending by mail state size of shoe. Checks outside of Massachusetts include 10 cents for exchange.

Newtonville spoke of the need of an Anti-Tuberculosis Society. Further details of the afternoon session will be given next week.

The annual meeting of the Waban Woman's Club was held on Monday, May 4 at the home of Mrs. George M. Angier. The constitution of the club was changed in accordance with the demands of the growth of the village. Election of officers followed, with this result: President, Mrs. Josephine K. Crahn; vice-president, Mrs. Minnie B. Burnett; recording secretary, Mrs. Cella R. Whitaker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Alice R. Scarborough; treasurer, Mrs. Alice W. Isola; press correspondent, Mrs. Florence P. Kimball.

After a very pleasing talk on "Old Time Customs," by Mrs. Frances Mervise, tea and a social hour brought the club year to a close.

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club met with Miss Albert Crombie of Columbus street on Saturday afternoon. Rev. Alfred H. Brown of Newton Centre spoke upon "The Merchant of Venice" which the club had just been studying. Mr. Brown gave an informal talk upon some of the more unusual phases of the play rather than a stereotyped lecture. He analyzed the characters of the various suitors of Portia and suggested why possibly they were unsuccessful. He called attention to the imagery that runs through the play and read some of the most beautiful. For the character of Portia he felt that Shakespeare must have had a dream of the 20th century girl. All the characters should be judged not by the standards of today but by those of the times in which they lived. Delightful vocal solos and a duet were rendered by Mrs. Chase and Mrs. Whitcomb. Light refreshments were served during the social hour. Guests from various of the neighboring clubs were present and shared in the enjoyment of the afternoon.

The Social Science Club held its last session of the season on Wednesday morning, May 6. The usual monthly business was transacted and reports of standing committees submitted.

NEW BUILDING PLANNED.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. brought its indoor season to an end this week with its annual banquet to its members on Monday evening and ladies' night for the intermediate department on Tuesday evening.

Fully 150 members and guests sat down to the banquet on Monday evening and after the menu had been heartily dissected President Allan C. Emery called the assemblage to order.

These officers were unanimously elected President Allan C. Emery, vice president, Carlton L. Ellison, treasurer, J. W. Blaisdell, clerk, C. V. Moore, corresponding secretary, C. L. Ellison, E. O. Childs, Jr., F. D. Fuller, Walter Secord and W. C. Wyre.

Mr. Jack Bartley sang quite acceptably and responded to an enthusiastic encore.

Mr. P. D. Fuller presented the Association "N" to these members of the basketball and track teams—Frank Miller, Vincent Jacobs, William Zeigler, George and Arthur Wilson, William Wharton, Walter Barrows, C. V. Moore, Fred Maguire, Daniel and Robert Mahoney, Austin McKee and John Gaw, Jr.

Secretary H. W. Bascom gave his report in a novel manner, using the stereopticon with good effect.

He traced the past history of the Association, and gave views of the athletic teams and familiar members of the Association. He reported a membership of 524 members and 100 ladies enrolled in the Auxiliary.

Mr. Frank A. Day as chairman of the trustees of the new building fund gave the following report which was received with great favor.

We believe that the time is approaching when plans should be made looking forward to the purchase of land and the erection of a building to be a permanent home for the Newton Young Men's Christian Association.

This Organization has so completely proven its claims upon us, that we have consented to act as Trustees of the enterprise.

The present quarters are entirely inadequate for the 400 to 500 young men and boys now members of the association, and the many others who are in reach of this enterprise.

We believe that every successful Y. M. C. A. should have a building of its own, erected free of debt. The same to have dormitories for young men, a first class swimming pool, gymnasium, bowling alleys, a large assembly hall, and smaller rooms for recreation, reading, and for social, religious and club meetings, and Bible study classes. Such a building we believe would serve at least 1500 young men and boys, thus relieving the present membership.

We desire to have it known that while the Association will not at this time enter upon an active canvas for funds, we are prepared to receive gifts and legacies of any amount, large or small, for the purpose above mentioned. We want to see a building erected that will prove a credit to our city, and an inspiration to our young men and boys. The cost of such a building would be about $125,000. We are pleased to add that the sum of $40,000 has already been subscribed.

Gifts or legacies should be made payable to the Newton Young Men's Christian Association of Newton, Mass.

The report is signed by the trustees, consisting of Frank A. Day, chairman, Wm. T. Rich, treasurer, Herbert A. Wilder, George C. Travis, James E. Clark, Francis Murdoch, Charles E. Riley, D. E. Barker, Allan C. Emery.

Mr. Franklin W. Gansse made the address of the evening speaking on the principles of the Y. M. C. A. Rev. H. Grant Person of the Eliot church spoke on "College Work." E. O. Childs, Jr. on "What the Association has done and is doing for the young men of Newton."

The intermediate department held its ladies' night on Tuesday, the rooms being nicely decorated with red and white in honor of the occasion. Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Haddon were the matrons.

AN IDEAL HOTEL FOR REST.

An event of interest is the recent opening of the Robbins Spring Hotel, "a mountain hotel seven miles from Boston" situated on a 400 feet elevation at Arlington Heights. The new lessee and manager is Harry L. Lightfoot, proprietor of the Stoneleigh at Bridgton, Maine, patronized by the best people of New England. Mr. Lightfoot is the oldest of five brothers of the third generation of Hotel Keepers in New England and the United States.

The Robbins Spring Hotel which entertains such distinguished guests as President Charles W. Eliot, Professors Charles Eliot Norton, Charles L. Jackson, Charles P. Parker and many others from Harvard College, presents among its attractions, modern comforts of convenience, a large sun parlor overlooking the lovely Charles River extending from the Heights to Boston Light 17 miles distant, also Minor Light 25 miles from the hotel which is clearly visible, garage and stable. In the amusement line there are tennis courts, a croquet lawn, English bowling green, bowling alleys, golf links and billiard and pool parlor, music room, reading rooms and magnificent foyer also a large hall for whist, dances and musicals.

The cuisine is unsurpassed. The telephone call is 184-2 Arlington.

SUICIDE AT RIVERSIDE

Henry F. Powle of New York city committed suicide by shooting, some time early Saturday morning, near the boathouse of the Boston Athletic Association, on the Weston shore of the Charles River at Riverside. His body was found at 5.30 o'clock by a milkman, who notified Charles Sadler, caretaker of the boathouse and of the shooting range nearby. Powle was a brother-in-law of Sadler, and was thirty-seven years of age. He was despondent, having been in poor health for some time. It was learned that he left New York suddenly, saying that he was to pay a visit to the Sadler family. He was seen on a car that runs from Newton to Riverside Friday evening, but members of the Sadler family were not aware that he was in the city. They occupy living rooms in the boathouse, and declare that they heard no pistol shots during the night. When found the man had been dead several hours. A revolver was lying near the body. Powle leaves a widow and one child.

Funeral services were held in Waltham Monday afternoon and the body was placed in the receiving tomb of the Waltham cemetery.

SUBURBAN RAILWAY CLUB

Two hundred members of the Suburban railway club, comprising employees of the lines running into Newton, Wellesley, Natick, Watertown, Needham, Waltham, Lexington, Concord and Framingham, held a monthly dinner in Denison hall at Newtonville, Monday evening.

Mr. L. D. Brandeis made an interesting address on "The Proposed Merger of the New Haven and Boston & Maine Railroads." Incidentally he asserted that what the public desires of all transportation companies is efficient and fair service. "This has got to come from the officials and operators," said he.

Mr. Brandeis stated that no corporation has in the last 10 years held control of the Massachusetts legislature, although he believed that different circumstances existed between public service corporations and the legislatures of Connecticut and Maine.

The other speakers were Russell A. Sears of the Boston Elevated company, and J. H. Hustis, assistant general manager of the Boston & Albany railroad, who spoke interestingly of transportation problems in general.

CLAFLIN GUARD NOTES

The efficiency and reliability of the State militia was never better demonstrated than during the recent conflagration in Chelsea. The rapidity with which the various companies were assembled, and the perfect discipline maintained on duty, spoke volumes for the high sense of duty of the modern citizen soldier. The average citizen is prone to think lightly of, and at times to hold up for ridicule the militia of today. He does not consider that the work put in, and the personal sacrifice made by the individual soldier is of any special moment, until some catastrophe occurs. The militia at such times are indispensable, at other times, considered a necessary evil.

The company will run three socials during the month of May, the proceeds going toward defraying the expenses of the trip to Washington at the next inauguration.

When such an able and practical educator as Dr. Spaulding, our superintendent of schools, deems the present continuous five hour session in the Bigelow school, as "a serious mistake", it is about time for the parents of children attending this school, to begin to take notice. For five years, now, parents who take a real interest in the physical and mental well being of their children have been compelled to either, allow them to go without education, or run the dangers of a severe strain upon their health. It is about time that a more rational plan is adopted in this district of the city, which is the only one, where this pernicious scheme is in practice. In another column, we print extracts from Dr. Spaulding's report on this subject which are well worth perusal of every parent in the city. An attempt is being made in the Bigelow district to modify the present five hour session, by something more rational and satisfactory. Blank petitions for this change can be found at the Graphic office or will be sent on request to anyone interested.

The attitude of the democrats in the House of Representatives in voting against the submission to the people of the proposed amendment to the constitution relative to taxation, shows clearly that the platform of that party in favor of the referendum, is simply wind. The defeat of the resolve is a great misfortune to Massachusetts.

Governor Long's address at the dedication of the Founders Memorial of the Newton Hospital is not only based on noble and inspiring thoughts, but is so beautifully clothed in language that its reading is a pleasure and a profit alike.

THE GILDED DOME

Representative Lothrop is working early and late to defeat the proposed "blanket boulevard" bill which has been favorably reported to the House by a scant majority of his committee.
His work on this worthy object, however, has been handicapped by the very inopportune agitation by Chestnut hill residents, in favor of a raid on the metropolitan treasury for a half million of dollars for the so called Hammonds pond district taking, and the hasty and inconsiderate action of our aldermen is approving such a taking. It is possible that with the pronounced opposition to the boulevard bill by the Suffolk County members and the Boston Finance Commission, that it can be defeated.
It is now under consideration by the Ways and Means committee.

The resolve in favor of amending the constitution to allow the assessment of personal property on a different basis from other property was defeated in the House on Wednesday by a vote of 99 to 63, not a two-thirds vote in favor as required. An attempt will probably be made to pass the resolve on a reconsideration.

The bills to increase the salaries of the judges of the superior and superior courts have passed. Representatives Garcelon and Lothrop voting against both, and Representative Bishop being excused from voting as his father is on the superior bench.
The bill to increase the salaries of the members of the General Court has also, after many vicissitudes, been passed by the House, with all three of the Newton members in opposition.
This matter, I believe, has been placed on a wrong basis. It is not fair to ask men from the western part of the state to attend the General Court, with salaries the same as men from the vicinity of Boston. The western representatives must board themselves thruout the week, and are able to attend to but little personal business while in Boston. On the other hand, the eastern members, live at home, and can usually find many hours during the week for their own personal affairs. It would seem as if the proper solution would be reached by increasing the mileage to such an amount as would adequately compensate the members who come from a distance.

SCHOOL SESSIONS.

The subject of school sessions received considerable attention in the recent annual report of Dr. F. E. Spaulding, superintendent of schools. The superintendent refers to the fact that in the Bigelow and Waban districts a one session plan was placed "on trial" in 1900, and says "This one session plan has never given universal satisfaction in the above schools. It is probably a fact, though never demonstrated by figures in the Newton district, that experience with the plan has considerably reduced the proportion of parents favoring it, as compared with the proportion originally requesting it. It is also probably a fact, though never demonstrated in the Newton district, that a large majority of parents have constantly favored the one session in preference to the regular two session plan." Dr.
Spaulding weighs the advantages and disadvantages of the one session plan in the following language:

"The chief advantage that may be claimed for the one-session are these:
More available free time for outside interests, educational, recreational, hygienic; longer hours in the morning, when the child is in the best condition for work; the lessened amount of ex-posure in going to and from school in inclement weather. The disadvantages of the one-session are these:
The session is quite too long.—The last hour, and particularly the last half hour, is a severe trial, and accomplishes little; children, especially in crowded sections, who are not under proper control, are in danger of falling into bad ways during the long free afternoons; the child's breakfast and noonday meal are too far apart.
This last objection might not be very forceful, if every child ate a suitable lunch at school; observation shows, however, that less than one-half of all children do eat a suitable lunch; about one-third have no lunch, while half the rest have something quite inadequate or unsuitable.

In my own study of the workings of the one session plan in the Newton and Waban districts, I long since came to the conclusion that this plan was a mistake, a serious mistake,— that for these districts the two session plan would be decidedly better. In passing I may remark that, in my opinion, there is no district in the city in which the two session is not to be preferred to the one session plan."

Supt. Spaulding, however suggests that a plan might be devised which would combine the advantages of both the one and the two session plans, while eliminating most of their disadvantages.
He suggested the present plan, now in vogue in the Waban district,—one session daily for grammar grades from 3.30 to 12.30 with afternoon sessions on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2 to 4.
A further modification of this idea was recently put in practice at Newton Centre as an experiment. This session is from 8.30 to 12 daily with afternoon sessions from 1.30 to 3.30 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week.

The entire report of the superintendent on this matter is of great interest, especially in the Bigelow district, where children are placed under a severe mental and physical strain by a continuous five hour session.

Orders have been received for the Company to report for Battalion Drill, at South Armory, Irvington street, Boston, on Thursday, May 14, at 8 o'clock, also designating the company to act as escort to the colors.

An election will be held Saturday evening, May 16 at the South Armory to fill the vacancy of Lieut. Colonel caused by the retirement of Lieut.
Col. Clements. Just at this time the officers of the Guard are recipients of many invitations to informal dinners.

The Company through Capt. Guilford has accepted the invitation extended by the G. A. R. of Newton, to act as escort to that body on Memorial Day. This duty, although voluntary, is always considered by the Guard as a most honorable one, and the spirit that causes every man in the company that day is commendable.

Capt. Guilford has accepted an invitation from the "Bunker Hill" Comm. of Charlestown, asking him to parade his company, in the military parade to be held in that city on June 17th.
The first of the series of "Trip-to-Washington" dances being held this month at the Armory, took place last Friday evening, and was a most successful affair. Every man selling $17.00 worth of tickets gets his trip to the inauguration in March, 1909, free from any assessment whatever.
The steady tramp of marching feet,
The rattle of arms, and a hoarse command, Proclaim to the Citizens without
"par le voo"
That the Claflins are drilling to "Beat the band."

MR. INMAN DEAD

Deacon Henry A. Inman, for over thirty years a resident of West Newton died yesterday afternoon at his home on Perkins street after an illness of about one month, altho he has been in poor health for some time. The cause of death was dropsy of the heart. Mr. Inman was born in Burritville, R. I., sixty-three years ago, and for many years has been connected with the Paine Furniture Company of Boston. He was prominent in the Baptist denomination, having been a leading member of the Bowdoin Square Baptist church for some years, and since his residence here, conspicuous in the Lincoln Park Baptist church in West Newton, where he held the position of deacon. He took the recent change in the policy of this church very much to heart. He was also a member of the Boston Baptist Social Union. Politically, Mr. Inman was identified with the Prohibition party in the state and nation. In 1880 and 1881 he served his ward in the Common Council of Newton, and was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor in December, 1888, against ex-mayor Edward B. Wilson, polling 1333 votes.
He is survived by a widow and one daughter, Mrs. Jessie Inman Gam-mons. Funeral services will be held from his late residence on Perkins street, West Newton, on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock.

ARLINGTON WHEAT MEAL

Contains all the properties needed in the food for the human body.

Is the standard of purity. It will cure stomach troubles, resulting from the fermentation caused by eating an overabundance of starchy food which is so prevalent.

The quality of the wheat used and the process of its manufacture are almost perfect in this preparation. It is in gluten and albuminoids, a certain food that is almost perfect in nutrition. It is a healthy food for all ages, and makes a perfect breakfast and an ideal breakfast cereal. It has been on the market for years, giving perfect satisfaction. Grocers sell our new 40-lb. sack and the 10-lb. package, 5-lb. and half-barrels.

CHANNING CLAN DANCE.

One of the prettiest and most attractive dances of Newton's social season was the dancing party given by the Channing Clan, a young people's society of the Channing church, house last Friday evening. It was an invitation affair and some fifty or more couples responded to the invitations sent out. The dance order called for some twenty dances and dancing commenced soon after eight-thirty, after an informal reception, Mesdames A. L. Hudson, A. L. Berry and Mitchell Wing being the matrons. Mr.
Alfred H. Wing was the chairman of the dance committee, and the floor was in charge of Mr. Frank Bancroft.
Young society people representing all of the Newtons were present, including an especially strong delegation of dance lovers from the Newton High School.

It is the intention of the Channing Clan to take an active part in the social affairs of the Channing church, and this is but the first of the social and entertainment functions to be given under its direction.

SOUTH MIDDLESEX CONFERENCE

The May meeting of the South Mid-dlex Unitarian Conference was held in the West Newton church on Wednesday with a large attendance. The morning session was opened with reports from various branches of the Women's Alliance, with Miss Grace Murt in charge. Miss Jessie M.
Fisher responded for the Channing branch and Mrs. J. P. Tolman for West Newton. Rev. A. L. Hudson of Channing church followed with a talk on the work of the Alliance in relation to the church. At eleven o'clock Mr. Robert C. Metcalf of Winchester gave a fine address on "Ethical and Religious Training in our Public Schools."

An elaborate lunch was served to 265 delegates and guests by the ladies of the West Newton church at noon.
The tables were very attractive with forsythia and jonquils for floral decorations. Mrs. Ellery Peabody was in charge, assisted by Mrs. G. P. Bullard, Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Mrs.
John S. Alley, Mrs. A. Stuart Pratt, Mrs. A. G. Hosmer, Mrs. F. J. Burrage and Mrs. F. G. Tate.

In the afternoon there was a split-ted discussion as to the future of the conference. Rev. Samuel A. Eliot was strongly against its discontinuance.
Rev. Dr. S. M. Crothers of Cambridge believed there were too many meetings and that one good meeting was worth half a dozen poor ones. A lively discussion followed, with a vote to postpone a final decision until the fall meeting.

These officers were elected, president, Mr. Charles F. Dutch of Winchester, vice president, Miss Grace

BOY HURT

Stepping unexpectedly onto Beacon street from a sidewalk, Joseph King, the 10-year old son of Thomas King, of 1317 Beacon street, Newton Highlands, was struck by an automobile and seriously injured about 4 Sunday afternoon. The machine was owned by F. W. Thayer of 13 Brimmer street, Boston. It was driven by F. N. Crafts, and was occupied by F.
W. Merrill and R. W. Seamore. It was going west. The automobilists pleaded up the injured boy and took him to a local doctor. His injuries were found so severe that he was quickly removed to the Newton hospital in the police ambulance. Here it was found that he had a compound fracture of the left leg between the ankle and knee. A year ago the boy was struck by an automobile here and seriously injured about the head, having dropped off the tailboard of a wagon in front of an automobile. At that time he was under treatment in the hospital here for several weeks.
It is said that the machine which struck him was being run at a moderate speed.

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

There is a separate cow stable, with concrete floor and whitewashed walls and ceiling. A milk room adjoins at one end, shingled and plastered, with a cement floor. This room contains an aerator and a refrigerator. The stable is warmed in the coldest weather by hot water. The managers have a supply of pure water. The stock is pure Jersey, inspected by the State, and examined before purchase.
I have other dairies which are managed with equal care. Take your milk from clean, well inspected sources.

THEATRES

Kelth's Theatre—What has every indication of being one of the best all-around vaudeville bills ever presented at Kelth's is the program arranged for next week. Among the names prominent on the list are those of Rock and Fulton, Harry Gilfill, Sidney Drew and company, Cameron and Flanagan, the Finneys, Lew Hawkins, and the Tom Jack Trio. William Rock and Maude Fulton present a genuine vaudeville act in the best sense of the term. The are both wonderful dancers, while Miss Fulton is a most charming singer of the soubrette type. There is no entertainer who is more welcome in Boston than Harry Gilfill, with his great character impersonation of Baron Sands and his remarkable local imitations. "Billy's Tombstones" as played by Sidney Drew and company is undoubtedly one of the greatest farces vaudeville has ever known. Cameron and Flanagan, with their striking novelty, "On and Off," the Finneys, whose exhibition of swimming stunts is in a class by itself, Lew Hawkins, "The Chesterfield of Minstrelsy," with a fresh budget of stories and parodies, and the Tom Jack Trio, in a capital instrumental novelty, are all recognized as belonging to the head-line class. Little Foresto and his dog, in acrobatic feats; Manly and Sterling, who do a character sketch along new lines; De Haven and Sidney, capital dancers; Sanford and Arlington, varietyists; the Zarrall Brothers, gymnasts; Juggling De Lisle, a deft manipulator, and new Kinetograph pictures will complete the program.

Tremont Theatre—"The Man of the Hour" is now in its fifth month of remarkable prosperity at the Tremont Theatre. This week it will have reached a total attendance of nearly 200,000 persons in Boston, and a record of about 185 performances. The plot of "The Man of the Hour" tells a stirring story involving love and politics. Alwyn Bennett, a young man of wealth and family, is in love with Dallas Walwright, the niece of a man at the head of most of the big corporations of the community. She refuses to consider Bennett's suit unless he will abandon the idle life into which his fortune has led him. Bennett is the mayor of a large city, and the strong scenes of the play arise when he defies the authority of the political boss and attempts to be independent. A corrupt measure of great value to Walwright has passed the Council and is up to the Mayor for approval. Horrigan commands, and Walwright pleads for his signature. Torn by a conflicting impulse of his awakened ambition, his love and his conscience, the young Mayor finally votes the bill without regard to the cost. The complications arising from the love affair and the varied experiences of municipal political life give the play its great hold on the audience.

Boston Theatre—Few successes of the season at the Boston Theatre have been more pronounced than that which has attended the production of David Belasco's "Girl of the Golden West." It was a daring thing to do to make a contract for this production at this time of the year and at the almost prohibitive terms demanded in the shape of royalty. However Manager Morison's judgment in the matter of the value of plays has again been vindicated, for the sale of seats has been so excessive that a second week for this production has been determined upon. The return of Eleanore Gordon to her duties in the company, after her short rest, has added a strong interest to the performance this week as her impersonation of "The Girl" marks the highest point of her career at the Boston Theatre. The realism of the stage settings contribute much to the effect of the play, the beautiful panoramic effects, which precede the play, amply reward prompt attendance and local color is

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Harry G. Chesley to Henry L. Houghton, dated March 29, 1907 and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 3292, Page 243, and duly assigned by said Henry L. Houghton to John C. Newburg of Boston in the County of Suffolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction upon the premises hereinafter described on Monday, May 25, 1908 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described as follows:—

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Newton, in that part thereof known as Auburndale, and being lot numbered six (6) as shown on a plan of land at Auburndale, Newton, September 25, 1875, William H. Jackson, Surveyor, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Plan Book 30, Plan 6, and bounded and described as follows, viz:

Southeasterly by Evergreen Avenue, eighty-two feet; Northerly by lot numbered five (5) on said plan, one hundred and thirty feet (130) feet; Northwesterly by lot numbered fifteen (15) on said plan, eighty (80) feet; and Southwesterly by lot numbered seven (7) on said plan, one hundred and thirty (130) feet.

Containing according to said plan, 10,400 square feet, be any or all of said measurements more or less.

Said premises will be sold subject to a first mortgage of twenty-one hundred ($2100) dollars, held by Nathaniel W. Walker Trustee, and recorded with said Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 3290, Page 15, and to all unpaid taxes, assessments and betterments, if any there be.

Two hundred dollars will be required to be paid at the purchase of the premises at the sale. Other terms will be stated at the sale.

JOHN C. NEWBURG,
Assignee of said Mortgage.

Given the production by the singing of the songs of "The Lion and the Mouse", the most notable success in comedy-drama that has appeared within a decade, will be the attraction at the Hollis Street Theatre beginning next Monday, May 11th. When Charles Klein selected the moonkey question and the appreciation of the day on the basis of his play he chose a theme that had not hitherto been pressed into service by the playwright, and the idea was developed along absolutely original lines. He not only treated this sociological problem in a forceful, intelligent and convincing manner, but he also produced a play of compelling human interest, bristling in action, replete with dramatic incident and admirable in character portraiture. The company which Mr. Harris will send here is the original and is headed by Edmund Breese as "Ready Money" Ryder and Gertrude Coghlan as Shirley Rosemore. Others of prominence in the cast are Malcolm Duncan, who plays Jefferson Ryder; Frazer Coulter, who is cast for ex-Judge Scott; Anna Hanchett as Mrs. Ryder; Reginald Corringham as Bagley, the English secretary; E. A. O'Brien as Senator Roberts; and Marion Pollock Johnson as the Senator's daughter. The minor roles are all in the care of those who created them.

A REMARKABLE RECORD

The Boston & Albany Railroad began the month of May by getting every one of its 274 Main Line and Newton Circuit trains to their destination on time on Friday, May 1st. This 100% record was promptly recognized by Asst. General Manager J. H. Enstis as due to the cooperation of all the men on the Boston & Albany Road, and he sent out a message saying: "This is a record of which we may well feel proud and to all who contributed to this result THE MANAGEMENT expresses its thanks."

The public, generally, and railroad men particularly, will understand and appreciate what it means to show an absolutely perfect train sheet for twenty-four hours like this one of last week on the Boston & Albany Road. The consolidated train reports for the month of April show an excellent record for train service. Of the 700 trains east and west bound between Boston and Albany, 663 were on time. Of the 448 trains between Boston and Springfield, 414 were on time. Of the 4508 Newburg and South Framingham trains, 4353 were on time. In fact, out of a total of 6018 Main Line and Circuit trains, 5772, or the very high average of 96%, were on time. It should be borne in mind, in considering these figures, that the Boston & Albany train reports show all delays, while the custom on most railroads is not to count delays of less than five minutes as a train.

April the Boston & Albany Road showed an average delay per train of only thirty-six one hundredths of a minute—equal to 21 seconds. In figuring the actual delay in minutes it appears that the average number of minutes delay per day is 72. When it is considered that it takes about fourteen thousand (14,000) minutes each day to run the Main Line and Circuit trains, the very small delay will be apparent.

Summary of the Baldwin Prize Essay on the Street Railway System of Metropolitan Boston

The Baldwin prize of $100, offered by the National Municipal League for the best essay on Municipal relations, was awarded to Mr. A. E. Planski of the Harvard Law School for an unusually able thesis on "The Street Railway System of Metropolitan Boston."

Mr. Planski, who was reared and lives in Boston, based his thesis on an exhaustive study of official reports, public documents, monographs and magazine articles by authoritative writers, newspaper articles and discussions published during the past 38 years, and interviews with public and corporation officials and with private individuals who have had occasion to make a special study of the local transportation system.

The conclusions to which the writer arrives as a result of his investigation are summed up in the following language:

"In spite of remarks to the contrary (for there will always be those persons who are too ready to attack public service corporations), it must be admitted that the Boston Elevated Railway Company today puts its great resources and facilities at the service of the public in the most efficient way, and in absolute good faith. The position which it now holds in the community may be attributed in a large degree to the high standard of its officials, who have endeavored to meet all questions in a public spirited way. The company has continued its liberal policy towards its employees in respect to their wages, as well as in other matters. It is only because of this fact that we are able to say that the street railway employees of the Boston company compare favorably with those of any other large city in the world, in matters of politeness and efficiency, and some enthusiasts say that the standard of the employees is unsurpassed in any other city. In continuing the policy of introducing semi-convertible cars to parts of the urban and suburban system which will properly admit of their use, the Boston Elevated Railway Company is continuing the traditions of the Hub's leadership in street railroading. These cars, involving the latest improvements in construction, are characterized by an easy access arrangement, the opening and closing of the doors by compressed air power under control of the motorman, folding cars in which the motorman operates the car free from the jostling and comments of the passengers, and the most improved and modern system of ventilation. Thus it seems that the city of Boston at the present time has very little cause for complaint. The last report of the Boston Elevated Railway Company shows that 11% of its net earnings are returned to the city in taxes and other assessments. This is a better dividend to the municipality than is given by any of the municipally operated roads in Europe, including Glasgow. The road gives good service, has no water in its stock, pays dividends to its stockholders and pays the city (which has none of the expense or trouble of management) for the privilege of doing business, a million and a half dollars a year."

FATHER WHOLEY TO LEAVE

Last Sunday Rev. Dennis J. Wholey preached his last sermon as pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart at Newton Centre. He will become pastor of St. Joseph's church, Roxbury, where he will be elevated to a permanent rectorship as successor of Rev. Thomas Moynan.

Rev. Fr. Wholey will make his first public appearance at St. Joseph's next Sunday. At the same time Rev. Daniel Riordan of Middleboro will for the first time officiate as pastor of the Sacred Heart church in this city as successor to Fr. Wholey.

One of the last duties of Rev. Fr. Wholey in the Newton Centre parish was the observance of the feast of the patronage of St. Joseph. It was after he had preached an able and inspiring sermon on St. Joseph at the 10.30 mass that he announced that he had been chosen to labor in another field.

"Before closing I have a duty similar to that which I was called upon to perform but once before," he began. "It is the wish of the archbishop that I should labor in another part of the archdiocese. He has selected me for a place of larger responsibility, and yesterday named me pastor and permanent rector of St. Joseph's church."

"I am not going to speak of myself at this time or tell you what I have done here because you know what I have been. I have spent more than 17 years among a loyal, generous people. That I have been successful here has been due to the loyalty and generous spirit which has always prevailed."

"For five years I labored alone, and then I had my first assistant." He paid warm tribute to Rev. George F. McDermott of Worcester and the late Rev. Thomas Lee, his first and second assistants. He added that in Rev. Fr. Daniel Riordan the archbishop had made a careful selection.

"I speak for him a hearty welcome," he continued. "He is a man of character, having splendid ability and being kind, hearty and good. He will be able to take my place and fill it better than I have. I want you to give my successor the same support you have given me since the day I came among you."

There were few dry eyes in the large congregation. "I do not look for honor, for all I wish to do is to perform God's work," said Rev. Fr. Wholey. "I can assure each and every one that I have tried not to make the least distinction during my service in the Church of the Sacred Heart. The poorest man has been the same as the millionaire to me, and I go away as I came with the good will of everyone."

"The parish was never before in such good condition to place in charge of another. I can congratulate my successor. I thank you from my heart for all you have done for me. I shall ever remember you. All I ask is that you give my successor your loyal support and love."

Rev. Fr. Wholey left a beautiful memorial window, and he told his parishioners that he hoped it might help them to remember him.

When the Church of the Sacred Heart was founded in 1890, Rev. Fr. Wholey became its first pastor. The first mass was celebrated Dec. 7, 1890 in Associates hall. Here services took place until early the following autumn when a handsome church edifice was erected on Centre street a short distance from Beacon street.

Rev. Dennis J. Wholey was born in Lawrence, Feb. 8, 1853. He attended the Quincey grammar school in Boston and later the Lawrence grammar and high schools. From his native city he went to St. Charles college, Ellicott City, Md., and later to Nicolet college at Nicolet, P. Q. Subsequently he attended Grand seminary in Montreal.

He was ordained to the priesthood Dec. 22, 1877. He went directly to St. Joseph's church in the West End district of Boston as curate, beginning his service there Jan. 3, 1878 and remaining 13 years. From St. Joseph's he came to the Sacred Heart church in this city as pastor.

Under the direction of Fr. Wholey the Church of the Sacred Heart has grown from a comparatively small parish to one of considerable size, extending over the districts of Newton Centre, Chestnut Hill and Newton Highlands.

During his residence in Newton Centre Rev. Fr. Wholey has taken an active interest in local affairs and was universally esteemed. He served on the committee which inaugurated the first annual "village night" gathering in Newton Centre. He is at present a trustee of the Newton hospital.

Rev. James F. Haney paid a fitting tribute to Fr. Wholey, saying, "He is a true priest of God. He has shown great unselfishness. He has unbounded love for the poor, is a respecter of every man's rights and is a man of personal piety. His early years were years of sacrifice. He worked day and night for the upbuilding of a parish which today is considered one of the foremost spiritually in the archdiocese."

MR. BRAY DEAD

After a lingering illness Melien Bray, aged 79, well known throughout the country as an inventor, died early last Friday evening at his home, 72 Institution avenue, Newton Centre. His condition had been serious for several weeks.

Mr. Bray was a native of Turner, Me., where he was born Jan. 12, 1829, a son of William B. and Nancy (Bradford) Bray. On the paternal side he was a descendant of one of four brothers who came from Normandy, France, while on his mother's side he was a descendant in the seventh generation from William Bradford, the colonial governor.

His early years were passed in Turner, where he attended the common schools. When 17 years old he began work in his father's carding mill. In 1849 with his brother William he bought a general country store in Turner. This he conducted five years.

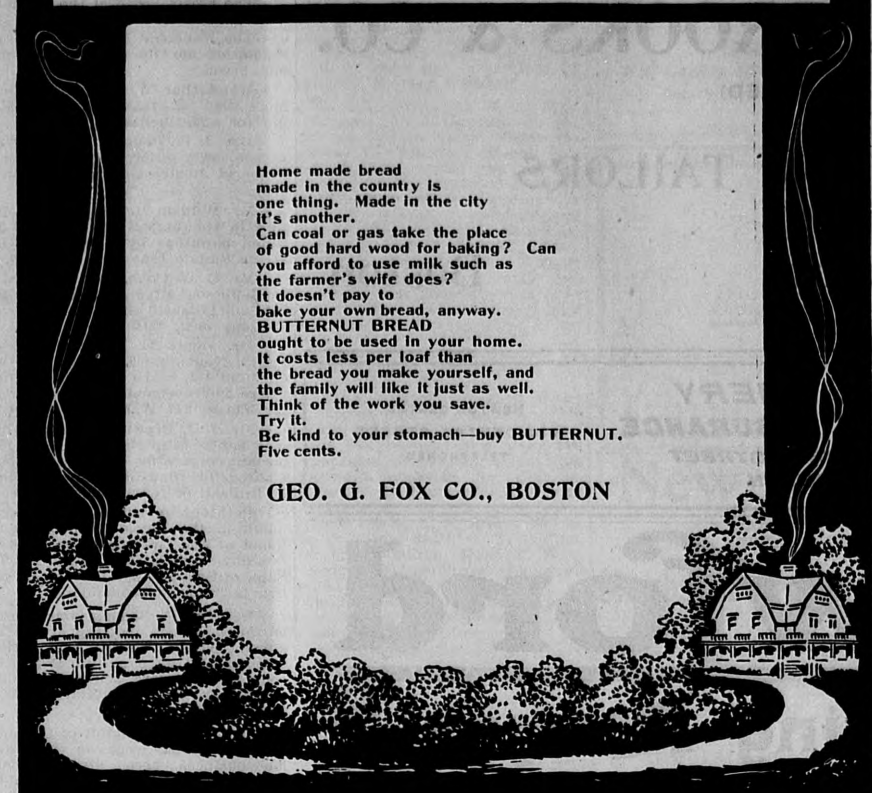

In 1853 he moved to Montreal, where he remained until 1863. In the latter year he came to Boston and bought a general machine shop. This gave him abundant scope for an unusual mechanical ingenuity which he had already displayed.

Mr. Bray's first prominent invention was a machine for producing seamless metal boxes, which he perfected in 1865. It was a short time later that he invented tubular rivet and facing studs. He began an extensive manufacture of these articles, and in later years had been manager and principal owner of the Tubular rivet and stud company with factories at Wollaston. An idea of the magnitude of the business may be gained from the fact that in recent years the concern consumed more than eight tons of metal daily.

A number of intricate machines operated in the business were later invented by Mr. Bray.

In 1850 he was married to Miss Persis Temple Gross of Turner, Me., and three children survive, they being Peris Davis, Melien Newton and William Claxton Bray.

Butter Nut

Home made bread made in the country is one thing. Made in the city it's another. Can coal or gas take the place of good hard wood for baking? Can you afford to use milk such as the farmer's wife does? It doesn't pay to bake your own bread, anyway. BUTTERNUT BREAD ought to be used in your home. It costs less per loaf than the bread you make yourself, and the family will like it just as well. Think of the work you save. Try it. Be kind to your stomach—buy BUTTERNUT. Five cents.

GEO. G. FOX CO., BOSTON

Mr. Bray had been a resident of Newton Centre since 1863 and was one of its best known residents. He had long taken an active interest in local affairs, and erected the present Bray Block in order that the village might be accommodated in halls and stores.

He had been prominently identified with the Newton hospital since its inception and had given liberally to that and other local institutions. One of his last gifts was the Founders Memorial building, erected at a cost of $60,000, which was presented by him completely furnished to the Newton hospital on May day. Mr. Bray was then too ill to attend the dedication exercises, and the keys were turned over to the hospital corporation by his son, William Claxton Bray.

Business places in Newton Centre were closed Monday afternoon during the funeral services which took place at 2 in the First Baptist church, where Mr. Bray had been a regular attendant. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Edward E. Braslin of Dorchester temple, a former pastor of the First Baptist church. He was assisted by Rev. Maurice A. Levy, the present pastor.

There were organ selections by John H. Loud. The church was well filled with former friends and business associates including Mayor Hutchinson and many employees of the Tubular rivet and stud factory at Wollaston. Although the family had requested that there be no floral offerings, many handsome tributes were sent. The service was simple, there being no singing and no hearers assisting. The burial, in Newton cemetery, was private.

WILLIAM H. DAVIS CLUB.

The annual meeting and banquet of the William H. Davis Club was held Monday evening at the Woodland Park Hotel. There was a good attendance, the majority of the guests coming in a special car. Bowling and other games were enjoyed and the business meeting followed which was presided over by Mr. Frank H. McCammon. A constitution and by-laws were adopted and the following officers chosen to serve the coming year: President, Fred L. Trowbridge; vice president, Theodore R. Lockwood; treasurer, Willard L. Day; corresponding secretary, James M. Hayward; recording secretary, David R. Manning. The banquet followed in the dining room and at the post prandial exercises the new president, Mr. Trowbridge, presided as toast master. A number of addresses full of serious and humorous thought were given by the following gentlemen: Mr. J. H. Hustis of the Boston & Albany, whose subject was, "The Organization and Operation of a Railroad;" Rev. J. Edgar Park, "The Old Men and the New," a comparison of ancient and modern times; Mr. Thomas Weston, "The Power of Will," and Rev. H. Grant Person, "The Value of Cheerfulness." An orchestra provided a program of popular music during the evening. The company adjourned at a late hour and returned home in a special car.

MOTHERS' REST

The regular May mass meeting of the Mothers' Rest Association of Newton Centre will be held in the vestry of the Congregational church on the afternoon of Thursday, May 21st, at 3 o'clock.

Miss Esther Barrows of the South End House will tell of her work for that charity and Miss Alice A. Burditt as secy of the Elizabeth Peabody House will speak about the latter.

There will be music and a discussion of summer plans. All are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

BROKEN ARCH

Pain in the ankle, instep, knee or back is frequently caused by a broken or weakened arch in the foot. While relief is easy to find, yet many, misinformed, seek to relieve this condition by wearing arch supports which are stiff and unsympathetic. The bones of the foot have the same action as the bones of the hand, and will retain its gentle sustaining power on the muscles, is what is wanted. Such a support will give almost instant relief and a foot comfort that is otherwise unknown. The JORDAN ARCH SUPPORT is the only one on the market that brings this relief. Owing to the enormous demand for these goods we are enabled to sell them at the extremely low price of $2.00 PER PAIR. Send for pamphlet. In sending by mail state size of shoe. Checks outside of Massachusetts include 10 cents for exchange.

THE ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS MOVEMENT.

The afternoon session of the meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs held on May 6th was of unusual interest both on account of the subject and for the speakers presenting it.

Mrs. Rufus A. Williams, chairman of the Health Department of the General Federation, spoke of the large plan of work extending over the whole country in the hope of stamping out this "Great White Plague." Women in every state have been appointed to have charge of the various sections that all parts of the country may be reached.

Mrs. G. W. Auryansen, chairman of the Social Service committee of the Newton Federation, under whose direction the work for the relief and prevention of tuberculosis is being inaugurated in Newton, spoke of the plans of her committee so far as matured. A clinic and a day camp will soon be established. The use of land near the hospital has been obtained for the day camp. The sympathy of the physicians and of the Hospital authorities has been secured, and the expense of nursing will be borne by the District Nursing Association. She closed with an appeal for the sympathy and co-operation of the members and of the community at large.

Dr. Edwin A. Locke of Boston was the first formal speaker on the subject. In order to have a successful crusade against this dread disease, he said, it is necessary to have a wise government trained physicians and an intelligent public. The problem we are facing is the greatest medical problem the world has ever faced for the disease is spread throughout the whole world. From 1-7 to 1-10 of all the deaths are due to tuberculosis. It is an infectious disease being caused by a living organism or parasite; it is also contagious or communicable; the dangers lie in the sputum; it is essentially a disease of the home or the workshop and found most prevalent among the poor. It is often due to the unhygienic conditions under which they live, the small and crowded rooms lacking proper ventilation and light. The disease prevails especially during the early adult life. It is, however, curable in its early stages. It is preventable, while in the case of pneumonia a person is utterly helpless to prevent it. It is impossible to cure all the sick, yet from 50 to 60% can be cured in the early stages; as for immunizing all the well, no effective vaccine has yet been discovered. There is a very reasonable hope of curing a large proportion of those infected. Splendid results have come from home treatment, yet the best hope for cure is from sanatoria. The hospital is the best place for the dying cases, those most dangerous to the community. Boston will soon have sufficient beds for far advanced cases. The day camp is the most effective means for those beyond the stage admitted to the sanatoria. The patient sleeps at home, but from 9 to 6 during the day he under the same regime as if in a sanatorium, is kept out of doors and properly fed. There are undoubtedly said, many more cases than supposed. A campaign of education is needed, the Board of Health should be stimulated to do its duty and some provision should be made for the very poor, through home care, the day camp and the dispensary.

The next speaker Dr. John B. Hawes of the Massachusetts General Hospital referred to numerous cases from Newton who have come to the hospital for treatment and told of the need of visitors from among our own number to follow up these cases and that here is a duty in the matter right here at home. His formal address is given in full.

Miss Ellen Emerson of Concord spoke from the standpoint of the friendly visitor. She spoke of the class at the Massachusetts General Hospital which meets each week with the doctor where the patients are taught to care for themselves, the value of rest, fresh air, good food. They are sent out at intervals many hours in the sun as possible, to sleep out of doors as far as possible, to have three good meals a day. It is sometimes necessary to educate the whole family in order to convince them of the necessity of these things. The best visitor among these patients is the trained nurse, yet the volunteer can do a great deal.

Dr. D. E. Baker of Newtonville told of the patients who have returned from sanatoria apparently cured and gone back to the same poor surroundings amidst which the disease was first contracted. He emphasized the need of an Anti-Tuberculosis Society. The meeting was closed with the general feeling upon the part of the members that a good work is being embarked upon, one that needs the co-operation and support of all the citizens of Newton.

According to a report just published by the Massachusetts Secretary of State, 886,104 men were assessed a poll-tax last year, but only 389,309 voted at the State election. The Boston Daily Advertiser sometime ago published statistics showing that, except at presidential elections, the majority of the men in Massachusetts who could vote and vote never do so. Their indifference is not looked upon as a cause for debarment from the more public-spirited minority from casting their ballots, and the suffragists are asking why the same reasoning should not apply to women.

SOMETHING NEW IN HARNESSES

Ever on the alert for devices that will raise the quality of their goods to a still higher standard, Messrs. Sartwell, Heindel and Humphrey, the harness dealers at 39-41 High street, are now making a new combination harness which is non-chafing and does not disfigure the appearance of a fine horse by wearing away the hair which comes in contact with the harness. The result is accomplished by making the entire harness flexible and covering it with soft Indian tanned leather which does not abrade the hair of the animal.

We hardly know how to stand on the matter of purchasing the Cousen's property at Newton Centre for park purposes. The project is so commendable, the public spirit shown in raising more than half the price of the property, is so excellent and the uniform policy of the city in meeting such matters half way, is so fixed, that it is extremely inadvisable to oppose the appropriation. At the same time, it is a well known fact that the valuation of personal property is certain to shrink over that of last year, our state and metropolitan taxes will be largely increased, and economy is absolutely necessary in all our municipal expenditures. The aldermen will have a difficult problem to face in acting upon this matter.

Not content with the prominent men of this city, whom Death has already claimed during the year, the Grim Reaper has again entered our community and taken from us one of our best and most public spirited citizens. Mr. Mellen Bray was one of that rare class of gentlemen, who avoided the lime light of publicity, and yet, are active in all that makes for the betterment of the community in which they live. Thru his enterprise, the village of Newton Centre has long enjoyed admirable facilities for public meetings, in the Bray Block on Union street, and his recent gift of a Founders' Memorial to the Newton Hospital is but one of many indications of his philanthropic and charitable work. We can ill afford to lose men like Mr. Bray.

The transfer of Rev. Dennis J.
Wholey from Newton Centre to another parish is a distinct loss to this city. Father Wholey enjoyed not only the love and esteem of his own parishioners, but to a remarkable degree, had the deep respect of all residents of Newton Centre, and indeed of the entire city. While Father Wholey is honored by his church in his selection as permanent rector of St. Joseph's church, the love and loyalty he has inspired in this community, is a deeper tribute to his worth as a priest and as a man.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the Bigelow district over the matter of one school session, and the attempt of the GRAPHIC to reduce the session from five to four hours is generally commended. One fact which pleases the mothers about the four hour session is that no lunches will have to be put up for the children to take to school.

Alderman Avery does not intend to cast his vote without knowing all the circumstances of the measure under consideration. A little more of the questioning spirit in our board of aldermen would add to the public knowledge of what is going on in municipal affairs.

OLD FOLKS RECEIVE.

A most successful and highly enjoyable reception was held last Friday afternoon at the Newton Home for Aged People at Newton Upper Falls.
The hours were from three to five and full two hundred of our best citizens and their ladies were present.
Mrs. George Hutchinson, Mrs. William H. Gould, Miss Abbie Spear and Miss Allen, the marionettes and the entire house was thrown open for inspection. Many of the inmates received their friends in their rooms, and light refreshments were served in the dining room. An interesting incident of the afternoon was the presentation by Mr. Morton E. Cobb, of a fine picture of his father, the late Hon. Henry E. Cobb, a former president of the Home. Beautiful flowers and other gifts were also received.

COLONIAL CONCERT.

The Colonial Concert on Saturday evening at the Newton High School for the benefit of the Chelsea sufferers brought out an audience of about $60. The chorus of fifty voices and the various soloists were in costume of the olden days. The program was substantially that given last year for the benefit of the Clafin Field fund, and was enthusiastically received.
The soloists were Mrs. Mary F. Sherwood, Miss Josephine Martin, Mrs.
Elizabeth S. Barker, Mr. Charles F. A-wood, with Mr. Frank Russell on the xylophone, Mr. George Copeland, Jr., at the piano, and Miss Olive Whitely on the violin. Miss Eva Sanderson, Mrs. Daniel White and Mr. Frank W.
Chase of the chorus, also had solo parts in the various numbers. The affair was under the efficient direction of Mr. Horace M. Walton.

The Newton Choral Union has been organized with Mrs. Geo. F. Lowell as president, Mr. Cheney L. Hatch as secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Horace M. Walton as director. It is the intention of the Union to give a concert each year for some local charity, and that for next year will be for the benefit of the Newton Hospital. The membership is limited to 100.

PATRIOTIC MEETING

On Monday evening, May 25, Mr.
Ida Council of the Royal Arcanum, who meet in Dennison Hall, Newton-ville, are planning a grand patriotic meeting and are to entertain the G. A.
R. Post, Sons of Veterans, Spanish War Veterans and the Clafin Guards.
These organizations will be present in uniform, and the Clafin Guards will wear their new uniforms on that evening for the first time.

Addresses are to be made by the Department Commander of Massachusetts, Alfred S. Roe of Worcester, and Assistant Adjutant General Wetherbee of Newtonville. The hall is to be beautifully decorated and there will be solos and patriotic music and exercises. A grand time is anticipated as such an affair has not been held in this city for a long time, and the meeting will no doubt be well attended.

It takes a woman to conceal what she doesn't know.

Rev. Dennis J. Wholey.

The late Mellen Bray.

MISS BAILEY'S WILL

Martha Ella Bailey, who died Aug.
13, 1907, leaving an estate valued at $64,000 left a will which was drawn by the Old Colony Trust Company, of Boston, and executed July 18, 1906.
Under the provisions of this will she left to her brother, James Warren Bailey of Newton, the homestead on Jewett street, which has an assessed valuation of about $10,000, also $2400 in cash and some $14,000 in notes making about $26,400 which was given outright to her brother. Special bequests to eleven others, including the Pomroy Home, and Mass. S. F. T. P. of C. to Animals, and the Animal Rescue League amounted to $4,400. Nine shares of Cal. & Hecla stock, and a ring were bequeathed to Dr. Frederick W. Webber of Newton and 5 shares of Calumet & Hecla were bequeathed to her cousin, Henrietta L. Stratton.
All the rest, residue, and remainder of the estate were given in trust to the Old Colony Trust Company, trustee, to invest and handle, the income to be paid to her brother James Warren Bailey of Newton, as long as he lived; and after his death said income was to be divided between Henrietta F. Stratton and Dr. Webber during their lives in case they should survive the brother. After the death of these parties the trust fund was to be divided equally between the Boston Home for Incurables and the Home for aged couples, of Boston.

This will was contested by the brother, James Warren Bailey, in the Probate Court but was allowed by Judge McIntire. The brother appealed from the decision of Judge McIntire and claimed a jury trial which was had last week and the jury returned a verdict, disallowing the will.
The defense of the will was left entirely to the Old Colony Trust Company who drew it and who were therein named as Executor and trustee to carry out its provisions.

None of the several beneficiaries under the will appearing in its support during the trial. Since the verdict, motions to set the jury verdict aside on the grounds that the verdict is against the evidence and the weight of the evidence, and also on the ground that issue presented and the conduct of the trial were such as to confuse, mislead and prejudice the minds of the jury, have been made, and June 9th has been assigned by the Court for further hearings on the matters involved in these motions.

D. A. R.

The annual meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R. of Newton, was held at the Newton Club House, on Monday afternoon.

The Regent and hostesses, Mrs. S.

The quality of the wheat used and the process of its manufacture are alone the secrets of its popularity. Rich in gluten and albuminoids, it furnishes a food that is almost perfect in nutrition. Better than beef or any animal food. Makes PERFECT BREAD and ideal breakfast cereal. Has been on the market 25 years, giving perfect satisfaction. POLICE NOTES.

On Wednesday, Chief Mitchell announced the appointment of Inspector Fletcher to the new position of Chief Inspector recently created by the board of aldermen, and the promotion of Patrolman Edward P. O'Halloran to the office of inspector to succeed Mr. Fletcher.

The new law allowing police officers one day off in every thirty, requires two additional men to be appointed. Chief Mitchell has selected John B. Champon and Judson J. Sartwell for the positions.

A portion of the gymnasium in the basement of headquarters is being converted into a garage for the new police automobile.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The baseball team once more met defeat at the hands of St. Mark's by the score of 4 to 1. Paul Pitcher for Newton and did well up to the Seventh, but after that he was hit pretty freely. Howe also played well for Newton, while Wood and White excelled for St. Mark's.

"Needham High proved easy on Wednesday, Newton winning by the score of 11 to 0. O'Neill's home run in the first inning was the feature of the game.

The game with Waltham High for Saturday has been cancelled owing to the fact that the existing Coach Longhly would not be able to give the game.

The school orchestra will present a concert in the Assembly hall tonight. Mr. Adams will resume his duties as head-master on Tuesday.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The people of Newton are beginning to enjoy the new land, formerly the Governor Claffin homestead on Walnut street, which has become the property of the city. Within a few weeks the pupils of the High School will be using the athletic field of six or seven acres, one of the best school playgrounds in this vicinity. The new Technical High School is taking form on another part of the land, the foundations being nearly completed. This building, to be considerably larger than the existing High School, will cost about $350,000. In all some sixteen acres have been presented to the city through the generosity of the people, more than $54,000 having been raised for this purpose. Newton not only sets an example of generosity to other municipalities, but creates a model civic centre.—Boston Transcript.

Newton's plan for a civic centre promises to be a beauty spot and a monument to the public spirit of the city. It will form an example in the way of foresight and generosity for the future that may well be emulated.—Boston Record.

CLUBS AND LODGES

Tennysen Rebekah lodge sewing circle will meet next at Odd Fellow's Hall, Tuesday, May 19, at 2.30. Supper will be served at 6.30.

LASELL ASKS TAX ABATEMENT

A petition has been filed in East Cambridge by the Lasell Seminary Company, asking an abatement of taxes assessed upon its property in the amount of $6286.09. The company claims that it asked the assessors of the city of Newton for an abatement of its taxes in the years 1903, 1904 and 1905, but that the board refused to grant the request.

Women's Clubs.

CARD OF THANKS.

The Channing Alliance desires to publicly express their thanks to Mr. Charles G. Newcomb for his generosity in forwarding several barrels, trunks, and express packages to Chelsea. Per order of The Executive Board.

Miss Kellher (blind) who lost all in the Chelsea fire, will be located during the summer at 23 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands. All who desire to help Miss Kellher to be self-supporting may send chairs to be recaned at two cents a hole, or towels and napkins to be hemmed. The charge for towels is four, five, or six cents apiece; for napkins, ten cents each.

The efforts to lower the milk standard in Massachusetts are likely to remind mothers of Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman's trenchant remark that politics govern the purity of the water and milk supply, and therefore it is "not outside the home, but inside the baby!"

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The interest at the State House this week, is divided between figuring out the results of the Supreme Court decision as to the holdings of the New Haven Road, and the many vetoes of Acting Governor Draper. The decision greatly simplifies the situation from a State House point of view, and it is to be hoped that the legislators will now view the matter as the common sense business man sees it. No one wants the control of either the New Haven or the Boston and Maine roads taken away from New England and managed from distant cities with only a dividend making point of view. Let us keep control of the operation and ownership right here in New England, and if possible, in Massachusetts.

His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor, has not been at all afraid of the political future in taking the stand against increasing salaries of officials and even the judges of the supreme and superior courts. His veto message of the last two bills are based solely on the ground of financial conditions.

The various taxation matters which will seriously affect this city have been postponed until next Tuesday. Mr. Lothrop argued against postponement last Wednesday morning, as he believed the bill could be defeated at that time if it had to come to a vote.

As the session advances, the candidates for lieutenant governor are warming up to their campaign. The popular verdict, given Speaker Colver the lead at this time with Mr. Frothingham a close second, and Mr. Luce a bad third.

J. C. Brimblecom.

MR. INMAN BURIED

At the family residence on Perkins street last Sunday afternoon a large company of relatives, friends and business associates gathered to pay their last tribute of love and respect to the memory of Deacon Henry A. Inman, who died the Thursday previous. Rev. O. P. Gifford of Brookline and Rev. Lester L. Potter of New Haven were the officiating clergymen and the Mendelssohn quartet sang "Savior, Grace, I shall We Meet." "Passing out of the Shadow," and "God be with Us 'Till We Meet Again." There were many floral tributes. The pallbearers were Messrs. James L. Paine, G. D. F. Paine, W. L. Shearer, H. L. Sturtevant, Warren Teele and Alderman C. D. Cabot. The interment was at the Newton cemetery.

MRS. GRAVES DEAD

Mrs. J. E. Graves, widow of Thomas R. Graves, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles B. Gallo on Church street, Newton, last Wednesday, aged 82 years. The funeral was held this morning at 10.30 from the house, Rev. H. Grant Person officiating. The Mendelssohn quartet sang "Some Sweet Day," "Crossing the Bar" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." The burial was in East Washington, N. H.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Charles Ward Post 62 earnestly requests the people of Newton especially the children of the public and Sunday schools, to collect flowers for use by the Post on Memorial Day. Flowers should be left at Newton, at the residence of Mr. John Hood, 405 Washington street, at Newtonville, at Temple hall, Masonic building, West Newton, at residence of Mr. S. A. Langley, 64 Margin street, Auburndale, at Hose House, Lower Falls, at Hose House, Upper Falls, at residence of Mr. Geo. H. Osborne, 117 High street, Newton Highlands, at Truck house, and Newton Centre, at Engine House.

NONANTUM OBJECTS.

The completion of the new Stearns school house with its well planned room for the accommodation of the local branch of the free library, has caused a division of sentiment in that village as to the wisdom of making the change, from the present quarters in the business block on Watertown street. The library trustees have voted to make the change and have given notice of intention to vacate the present quarters by June 1st. Alderman Deberry has been active in opposing the transfer and the Nonantum Improvement Society has voted against it, also individual members are said to favor the school house.

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular druggist printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

THEATRES

Kelth's Theatre.—Those who have been fortunate enough to see William Rock and Maude Fulton at Kelth's this week will not be surprised to learn that they will be held over for a second week, for seldom has an act made a more pronounced success in Boston than their capital medley of dances and songs. They are both simply wonderful dancers. The Miss Fulton in a singing comedienne of great magnetism. The turn is refreshing in its novelty and in the speed with which it moves. "Marcel Covington," George Ade's really great sketch which had its original vaudeville presentation at Kelth's nearly two years ago, will return after having been played by Edward Connelly and his very capable company in every large city in the country, with the record of having proved a success wherever it has been seen. It has received more attention from the newspapers than has ever before been accorded a vaudeville offering, and it has yet to be "roasted" by any critic. Howard and North, with their latest version of "Those Were the Happy Days"; Geiger and Walters, in a novel musical offering; Howard Truesdell and company, in "Two Men and a Bottle," a rattling good sketch; Almont Dumont, who play artistically upon a variety of instruments; Rely and Currier, with their catchy renditions of popular ballads; and The Picquays, two European acrobats of distinction, will all be among the leading features. The program will be completed by Shewbrook and Berry, in a novel skit; Ben Morse, the cyclist who talks; the Raven Trio, in a capital equilibrium act that is all new ideas; Morgan and Chester, conversationalists, and the Kinetograph.

Tremont Theatre.—The week to come offers the last chance to see "The Man of the Hour" at the Tremont Theatre, for the positively final performances of the season in New England will be on Saturday afternoon and evening of the 23rd inst. "The Man of the Hour" has broken all theatrical records in Boston, for many years as is proved by its stay of five full months divided into 150 performances with a total attendance of about 200,000 persons. Beginning Monday Night, May 25 the usual summer season will begin at the Tremont with the popular success of the year at Wallack's New York, entitled "A Knight for a Day" as the attraction. John Slavin and May Vokes will head the company which will have a "Swagger" beauty chorus.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Camping is an experience which every live, full-blooded, growing boy longs for. It makes him healthy and happy, and gives him the reserve force necessary to stand the strain of school life. Camp Becket is delightfully located upon a 200-acre farm in the heart of the Berkshires, with an altitude of nearly 2,000 feet above sea level. The whispering pines, the beautiful hills, the gorgeous sunsets and reflected colors upon the waters of Rudd Lake, cannot fail to impress a boy and contribute in the development of many, sturdy and unselfish character. The success of the camp is due to the natural methods used and the thoroughly wholesome life which is carefully planned. Every boy must be ready to contribute his share toward the good fellowship, clean fun and sport of the camp, endeavor to live up to the standards of manliness and be a gentleman always. The camp is under the direction of the State Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and is not conducted for financial profit, but for providing parents with a safe place to send their boys during the summer vacation, and under the leadership of a corps of Christian men, who are interested in the growth, development and manly conduct of boys. Parties of boys leave Boston every Friday for Camp Becket under competent supervision. Full information will gladly be given at the office of the Newton Association.

The Boston Y. M. C. A. extends a very cordial invitation to the senior members of the Newton Association to come to Camp Buena Vista. Some of our members each year go to this Camp and always report a pleasant vacation.

The Chicago Association has just celebrated its 50th anniversary. At a banquet attended by 600 of Chicago's best business men, Governor Deneen said, "I believe there scarcely could be found any where an organization which in so many ways is working for the good of society, for the maintenance of a high standard of citizenship and for the moral uplifting of mankind."

NEW TOWNE CHAPTER, S. A. R.

The annual meeting and dinner of Newtowne Chapter, S. A. R., was held at the Newton Club last Tuesday evening and was well attended by members and guests; a social hour was enjoyed from 6 to 7 o'clock when dinner was served in the banquet hall. Later president Edward J. Cox presided at the business meeting when the annual reports were read and officers elected as follows: President, Frank D. Frisbie; vice president, Hon. Samuel L. Powers; secretary-treasurer, Frederick M. Mitchell; registrar, Dr. Samuel G. Webber; historian, Edward J. Cox; directors, Hon. Gorham D. Gilman, John E. Alden, Harry B. Walker; delegate to the advisory committee on cooperation in patriotic work, Alvin R. Bailey. President Cox introduced the following speakers: Judge Edward Clarence Battis of Salem, president of the Massachusetts society, who made suggestions for the work of the coming year. Judge Darius Landon Vigus Moffett, one of the state managers, who read a scholarly paper on, "The Battle of King's Mountain," and Rev. Lewis Whitner Hicks of Wellesley, state chaplain, who spoke of the Massachusetts bay in the cloister of the colonies in the memorial chapel at Valley Forge. Commodore Frank E. Sawyer, U. S. N., retired, gave an informal talk on the personnel of the United States Navy and the fleet at San Francisco and Hon. Gorham D. Gilman gave reminiscences of Hawaii. Mr. Gilman also urged that an active campaign be made to find out what Newton residents are descendants from Revolutionary soldiers and all those who are eligible to join the organization to communicate with the president or the secretary.

FIGHTING TUBERCULOSIS

Paper Read by Dr. John B. Hawes at Meeting of Newton Federation of Women's Clubs

One of the interesting addresses at the recent meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, was an address by Dr. John B. Hawes on "What the Public can do in Fighting Tuberculosis". We are able to present our readers with the following verbatim report of the address:

It is hardly necessary for me to speak of the importance of this subject. The problem is too often regarded as a strictly medical one,—today I am going to try to point out briefly, in as practical and simple a fashion as possible what you, the public, can and should do in this campaign.

1. What can be done in the home.
2. What churches can do.
3. What women can do.
4. What school teachers can do.
5. The duty of large factory owners and those in charge of other large concerns in regard to this.
6. What private individuals can do.

Under the first heading—What can be done in the home—it seems to me that here is the starting point of all that is to be done in the future. Tuberculosis is a home and house disease, and only by education of people in homes and in their own houses, commencing with children of the youngest age, can the root of the evil be gotten at. Every father and every mother has a definite sphere of influence, has a circle of friends or adherents, large or small, who at one time or another come to him or her for comfort and advice, and it seems to me that it is the duty of every father and mother to learn some plain, simple facts about this disease, to learn what are the elementary laws of health and hygiene, and to impart these facts to children and servants.

Children from the very earliest age can at least be taught the value and constant need of fresh air; that night air is not harmful; that we are spending more than one-third of our lives in bed and that during this one-third we should at least have good air to breathe. The value of cleanliness; that of proper bathing; of keeping the skin in good condition, should be emphasized more than it is, and every child should be taught to take a sponge bath at least down to the waist every morning. The dangers of indiscriminate spitting should early be impressed upon young people, and the simple signs and symptoms of falling health should be made clear. The normal condition of the human body is that of health. If there is an unexplained loss of weight, or if in a young person there is a failure to gain weight, the significance of this should be taught; the danger of neglecting coughs and colds, the need of a certain amount of exercise, the need of relaxation, and the dangers of certain trades.

It is very hard to make parents realize that the morning bath is not so much for cleanliness as it is to wake up the body and mind and prepare all the functions of the body for their day's work. A sponge bath of cold or cool water taken in a warm room if possible, down to the waist at least, or preferably all over, with a brisk rub down afterwards, is by all means the best way to do this and will go far towards keeping the skin in good condition and preventing coughs and colds. The mouth is to a very large extent the portal of entry of the various germs which cause disease. At the Massachusetts General Hospital every patient on entering is provided with a toothbrush, which is charged on their bill. Many of these patients have never seen such an article before, and this state of affairs unfortunately holds true to a great extent among many children. It is a pity that children should be allowed to grow up before they are taught how important is the care of the teeth and how much discomfort, misery and often serious disease is due to neglected teeth. There is probably no more common cause of disease in children than adenoids and enlarged tonsils. Children who make a habit of breathing through their mouth, of sleeping with their mouths open and snoring at night should be investigated at once as to the presence of enlarged tonsils or adenoids, and if they are found to be present every effort should be made to have that condition of affairs remedied at once. Heart disease, rheumatism, tuberculosis glands and other conditions are now known to be the direct result of infection through enlarged tonsils and adenoids.

I firmly believe in keeping track of the weight of children. If they do not show a regular gain month after month there is something wrong which should be looked into. A cough which lasts more than two weeks should receive attention from a doctor either at a dispensary or the family physician. It is very unwise for mothers to attempt to treat such things when they do not yield to the simple home remedies and by simple home remedies, I should like to condemn patent medicines of all kinds.

What Churches can do.

I wish that every church in this state knew in a detailed way what Emanuel church of Boston, what Christ church and St. George's church of New York are doing in this tuberculosis work. Here are four representative churches, two of them Episcopalian, one Presbyterian and one Unitarian, each of them doing splendid work, teaching what I should call real, practical religion. Dr. Worcester, pastor of Emanuel church, has started a movement with the help of Dr. Joseph H. Pratt, which has proved to be of the greatest value in this tuberculosis problem. He and his church did not wait until the need came to his doors—they looked around and saw that there was an opportunity for a large and powerful organization such as this church is, to do some real practical work, and they seized this opportunity and made the most of it. How many churches are there in Massachusetts, who if they really analyzed what they were doing, how their money was being spent, how their energies were being used, could say that anything that they were doing was of real practical value and benefit to humanity, or that they were doing anywhere near as much as could be done? It has cost Emmanuel church perhaps $1000 a year, more or less, to maintain Emanuel church Tuberculosis class, and yet this class of 20 or 25 members has already in the two years of its existence, by restoring to their working capacity a certain number of individuals, saved the state over $40,000 or $50,000. This seems to me to be a fairly good return on one's investment. The professional work done by certain young physicians, but the great part of the work, that which has made this medical work possible, has been the fact that an active organization of laymen has taken an interest and decided to accomplish something at its own doors. If this work has been done, or if in other churches it must be done at the expense of foreign missions, I for one would be far from sorry. The old motto, "Do the duty which lies nearest to you" appeals to me strongly, and it seems to me, is too often disregarded by our great religious bodies. Arlington street church as you know, has established another class, as have Christ church and St. George's church in New York. The nurse in charge of the Arlington street church class was a poor girl, a consumptive, who was the first member of the Emanuel church class. She has been restored not only to what was her full working capacity, but is now earning far more than she ever did before.

I know of no finer work for a church to take up than this sort of thing. A great amount of money is not needed; volunteer visitors do splendid work, perhaps not as good work, but work that is very much worth while, in the place of a trained nurse. It does not take large financial backing; it does take an active interest, perseverance, and a determination to do some real, practical good. The mass of details need not be overwhelming; taken one at a time these details which at first seem bewildering will become simple enough. The work is so well known now that a church can no longer plead ignorance of how to do it as an excuse. Details as to what has been done and what can be done will be gladly furnished, and in every town I know that there are members of the medical profession who will give their services and lead in the movement.

3. What women in their various organizations can do. In the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's clubs alone in this state there are about 34,000 women. Other organizations, religious, philanthropic or literary, will bring the number of women who have some sort of an organization up to a very much larger number. It seems to me that these organizations, working as a body and as separate clubs, under the guiding hand of the medical profession, have an opportunity which is very rarely equalled to do an immense amount of practical work and to carry into those places where it is most needed, that is, into the home, some practical information in regard to tuberculosis. The medical profession may in some places be slow to take the initiative; in that case, they must be taught their duty by the public, and if the public in a firm and consistent fashion demands that this question of tuberculosis be taken up, the medical profession will be forced to take their share and to take their stand where they belong, at the front of this crusade.

Coming down to practical details then—what can these organizations do? There is at least one thing that they can do, and that is to hold as a part of their program once a year, a special meeting on tuberculosis, to get doctors to speak on the subject, to have clearly placed before them exactly what is being done in their community; to get a clear idea of what should be done and formulate ideas how best to do it. I shall not forget the interest and enthusiasm of the annual meeting of the Women's club of Fitchburg last year. Most of the speakers came from the medical profession of Fitchburg, one came from Boston and told what was being done in the Tuberculosis classes of that city; the district nurse described the state of affairs in detail; there were microscopes and other demonstrations, the women showed an active interest and the results in Fitchburg were reported for themselves. This is but one of the things that can be done.

These clubs of various kinds, made up as they are for the greater part of the families of influential men in each district, have in many instances a chance to offer a financial backing toward establishing a clinic for tuberculosis, toward forming a tuberculosis class, or more important of all, toward paying the salary of a nurse who will act with the doctors of the town in visiting the homes of poor consumptives and teaching them how to live. It is very easy to say that the city board of health, or some other state or town body should furnish this money, but in my experience such is not apt to be the case until any given movement has made good as it were and clearly demonstrated the fact that it is meeting a long felt want. In a great many instances a dispensary or a district nursing association has started under private organization and has later been supported by the town or city, which has been made to take up its own responsibilities by the force of public opinion. Clubs are in many instances the real power behind the throne, and if they cooperate with the medical profession, if they go up to the doctors and say to them, "Here, we will pay the salary of your district nurse," or "we will pay the rent of your dispensary rooms providing you will do the medical work," if that is done there is no medical community in this state

Church organizations, such as Girls' Friendly Societies, King's Daughters, Epworth League, etc., composed of young girls in all classes of society, from those in colleges to those working in factories, should play their part, and the money which they collect for this campaign by means of fairs and bazaars, or by individual subscription will certainly be well spent. In their meetings talks on this subject as well as on the broader one of health and hygiene are a very real part of practical religion and might well supplement Bible study and other religious topics. Physicians if asked will be glad to speak at such meetings; nurses, particularly district nurses would do better and could give more intimate details than most doctors, and the girls themselves, in such clubs, or in the older organizations could do an immense amount of work by forming Samaritan committees, as they are called in Edinburgh, or "friendly visitors" as they are termed in Emanuel church. These committees or visitors supplement the work of the nurses and help out the doctors by visiting these poor consumptives who are forced to take home treatment, getting acquainted with them and their families, seeing for themselves with the eye of common sense if not that of a trained nurse, exactly what the condition of affairs is, suggesting changes, and best of all cheering up the patients and urging them to persevere in their fight for health.

In my own suburban Tuberculosis classes in the first year, all of my visiting was done by these volunteer visitors. To each volunteer, as she was secured, one case was assigned; a pamphlet which I drew up on this subject gave in plain and simple language the details of what this open air home treatment consisted of, and this was used to supplement a personal interview. It does not require a professional training; it does require common sense; perseverance and a real desire to do some practical good. I remember one case in Woburn where a certain poor girl was dying of consumption. I sent one of my volunteers, a young girl of 20, absolutely without training except what she had got from talks with me and from visiting the class, to this girl's home, and told her to do what she could. "How to get this patient out of doors by day and by night; how to get her to take proper food; how to keep her from infecting others; in the simplest and most practical way—this is your report to me." At the first visit, the mother would not let her inside the house and was very angry at her coming; the next visit she got inside the house, talked with the mother and one sister and explained what she wanted to do; she was not allowed to see the patient. On the third visit, she saw the patient, in a tactful way suggested certain changes, left some sputum cups and paper napkins and certain directions; during later visits the girl was gotten out of her dark and dirty room into a tent in the yard, the place thoroughly cleaned, the other members of the family were examined, and the whole atmosphere was changed from one of despair, dirt and gloom, to one of cleanliness, brightness and good cheer. The girl is going to die, it is true, she is far too advanced to get well, but the amount of good which has been done by this untrained volunteer visitor in this case, and I could name many such examples, is immense. What this girl has done, other women can do. The element of danger in this work need not be considered providing the visitor is herself in good health, providing she instructs the patients in regard to coughing and spitting, and most important of all, providing she enters the work with the serene optimism which is perhaps the most important factor of all in warding off the disease. This is a brief outline of some of the things that women can do in this campaign and any or all of it will be a great help.

4. What School Teachers can do. In the lower grades of our public schools and in many cases school teachers have a closer hold on children and more influence with them and their families than the fathers and mothers themselves. Realizing from the start that the great majority of school teachers are not only underpaid but overworked, it seems to me that they will lessen their work and increase their efficiency by dwelling on certain points regarding health and cleanliness, and by keeping a watchful eye on the development of the bodies of their charges, as well as their minds. In too many cases school inspection is a farce; in many there is no school inspection, and in others what on paper seems an efficient procedure in reality amounts to nothing, and in almost every case there is no examination of all the children but only an inspection of those who are manifestly sick. The great majority who are candidates for some disease, or who are in such condition as to become easily infected, are allowed to continue at school until some germ has actually gotten hold of them; then, often when it is too late they are sent home and perhaps given some proper treatment.

In an examination of some 4,000 school children in Paris, Dr. Granche, recently deceased, one of the foremost and safest investigators of his time, found 18% of these children showed signs of tuberculosis; not all pulmonary tuberculosis, only one or two were found to be consumptive, but with all the signs, such as enlarged glands, anemia, malnutrition, a little fever, etc., which go to show that already somewhere in their body is a tuberculous focus ready to break forth. In this country the results, such as they are, have been about the same.

In Boston an examination of school children coming from houses or homes in which there had been tuberculosis showed that 18 to 20% were in this same condition. A recent examination of a large public school in Gloucester showed the same thing. Very many of these children could continue to go to school perfectly well providing that they and their mothers were taught a few simple rules of health. Ten or fifteen minutes a week would be enough to impress upon the children, even if they were very young, some of the fundamental rules of fresh air, cleanliness and proper habits of living, and if the school teachers themselves are not familiar with the early signs and symptoms of poor health, they can obtain such information very easily from the nearest doctor, and turn it to good advantage in their own work. If this were done and if teachers occasionally called to the attention of parents and physicians that a certain number of their children seemed to be failing and looked poorly, I think that sooner or later the public would demand some sort of ad-

Lower Falls.

—William H. Diehl is recovering rapidly from an operation for appendicitis in the hospital.

—It is expected that several Lower Falls young men will take examinations for a position as policeman in Welleley next Thursday.

—James A. Early, superintendent of the postal station at Lower Falls, sustained a fracture of the jaw early Sunday evening by being kicked by a horse. He was unharnessed the animal at Fitzgerald's stable, after having driven the animal during a greater part of the afternoon, when the horse suddenly let fly its heels. Mr. Early jumped, but was struck in the jaw and on the side of the head. He was knocked off his feet. He was hurried to the Newton hospital in the Newton police ambulance.

McKIE-AUDSLEY.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride, Miss Martha Audsley on California street last Saturday evening. The groom was Mr. Wm. A. McKie of Providence, R. I. Rev. Henry E. Oxnard of the North church officiated. Only the immediate members of the family were present, except Miss Olive Forkall who played the wedding march. Miss Mary Audsley acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Joshua Whitaker, brother of the bride, as best man. Miss Mary Audsley who is soprano singer in the Methodist church, Watertown, sang, "Take My Heart, O Father" and "Not a Sparrow Felleth." The bride then joined her too in a duet, "O Tell Many Birds of Spring." Mr. McKie is about to take up the work of building a church in Brockton, where the couple will soon make their home. The best wishes of their many friends go with them.

MAY PARTY

An annual May party and dance of Boynton lodge 20, Odd Ladies, in Denison hall, Newtonville, was participated in Friday evening by a large number of members and guests. The hall was prettily decorated.

The program began with "A Dream of the Flowers," presented by the following children: Edith Daniell, May queen, Marguerite Buck, Hazel Carley, Emma Stacy, Victoria Thomas, Bernice Clark, Evelyn Lyons, Edna May, Olive Mayer, Catherine Beatty, Edna Cornish, Elsie Jackson, Mabel Ware and Mary McDonald. Two little girls who went into the field to gather flowers and Masters Corey and Clark as bumble bees.

The flowers were represented as follows: Susie Fogwill apple blossom, Margaret McDonald daisy, Hazel Johnson buttercup, Olive, Paul and Flora Ware violets, Bernice McQueen daffodil, Mary Daniell tulip. Master Herbert Miller appeared as a morning glory, while in this part of the program Miss Hazel Fogwill appeared as the May queen. An attractive feature was the May pole dance by 12 little girls, followed by a festival of the roses under the direction of Miss Janet C. Clark.

In the rose drill were Marguerite Daniell, Lena Hovenden, Lillian Buck, Marion Clark, Grace Clark, Vinnie Mering, Edna Cook, Ruth Cunningham, Elbert Cunningham, Helen Burrell, Ruth Jefferson, Florence Cory, Ruth Thomas, Gertrude Bailey, Emily Spence, Mary Spence and Mary Elkins. Following the rose drill there was a solo dance by Miss Clark.

Miss Theresa K. Fewkes was pianist, and the committee in charge comprised Effie L. Daniell chairman, Mary L. Berry, Harriet H. Young, Annie G. Roeston, Eva Fogwill, Catherine Buck and Josephine Robinson.

NONANTUM FIRE

Prompt discovery of a fire in a frame house at 52 West street, Nonantum, early Sunday morning by police, undoubtedly saved the occupants from serious injury. The dwelling was occupied by Charles W. Ingraham and family. Patrolman Hughes was passing when he saw a lighted lamp fall from a table and set fire to the furnishings. He shouted to patrolman Butler, who was a short distance away, to send in an alarm from box 174, and then started into the house to help extinguish the fire. The firemen responded quickly to the alarm and by a few minutes' hard work extinguished the burning oil before the fire got much of a start. The damage amounted to about $25. The inmates of the house were arrested on charges of drunkenness.

POINT OF PINES BARBECUE.

The great Republican Mass Meeting which is being projected under the auspices of the Essex, Norfolk, Plymouth and Middlesex Clubs of Massachusetts, and which is attracting the attention of every regularly organized body of Republicans in New England, will mark the opening of the Presidential campaign in New England, and probably in the country.

The interest which is being shown in the event is such as at once places the mark of success upon the undertaking. The only question now is as to the number of people who will gather at the Point of Pines on July 16th to witness the novelties of the program which has been prepared, and to listen to the issues of the campaign as they will be presented by some of the leaders in national affairs.

It is positive that there will not only be in attendance the notables of the Republican party in the State of Massachusetts, the men whom loyal Republicans delight to honor and to listen to, but that the Presidential candidate of the Republican party will be there, together with other men prominent in the political life of the nation. It is hoped, and reasonably expected, that President Roosevelt himself will grace the occasion and give utterance to one of those epigrammatic addresses which has made him the idol of all the people and the acclaimed leader of the Republican party in the country.

With this possibility of speech-making, the outing, it may plainly be seen, will be one of the most notable affairs ever undertaken. It will have more than a state place, it will be of national significance, and as it will attract the attention of the entire country, it will deserve the enthusiastic support of every Republican here in New England, who can contribute to its great success by his favorable influence and presence.

The barbecue is not of New England origin, and therefore the process of feeding a multitude, which the term barbecue implies, has a great deal of novelty to the people of this section. The term has commonly been applied to large gatherings for social or political nature out doors, more commonly of a political nature, and seems to have had its origin in the South, though there have been many such gatherings in the West.

The Point of Pines, where it is intended to hold this monster gathering, is one of the most attractive places on the North Shore and is so situated as to be one of the most accessible places that could be secured for an event of this kind. Not only is there ground room enough, but there is a great hotel which is to be thrown open to the people, and in this headquarters the different organizations and committees will be established.

The committee on transportation have made every reasonable arrangement for the convenience of the guests of the day. Parties coming from the west of Boston will take the trains of the Lynn, Boston & Revere Beach road in that city, Atlantic Avenue Station, and the visitors from the east will change at Lynn for the trains of the same road. All trains leave their passengers at the Point of Pines. Details of train arrangements will be issued later.

In addition to the serving of the meats of the barbecue ample arrangements are being made for a further meeting of the wants of the great throng in the line of edibles. There will be sufficient supply to care for the desires of everybody in this direction.

To meet the tastes of those who may not care to devote their attention entirely to the political significance of the day, there will be plenty to interest and amuse. A very fine program of sports is being prepared by men who are experts in this direction. There will be music galore and an abundance of general entertainment which will serve to furnish plenty of attraction to all who attend.

equated school inspection. I am very sure that the parents would be only too glad to cooperate with the teachers if this were possible. I could name many cases in Boston where the school inspection is supposedly of a very high order, where children were allowed to continue at school by the school doctors until the mothers, with apparently more careful regard for their health, sent them to a dispensary. I have in my classes many such children who have been proven to be manifestly tuberculous but who have improved wonderfully on following a few simple directions as to how to live.

Every school teacher should be provided with certain information in regard to the prevalence of tuberculosis, and how to prevent it, and it should be the work of the local anti-tuberculosis organization to see that this is done. There is a vast field for good work in this direction among children, and the school teachers if properly taught and guided have a great opportunity to carry this on.

5. What the owners of large factories and other concerns can do.

A couple of years ago I visited one of the largest and newest apartment stores in Boston. I was interested in seeing their so-called medical department and in finding out what this actually consisted of. The Superintendent, with manifest pride, took me to an elaborately furnished suite of rooms, introduced me to the doctor in charge, who was there from 11 until 1 every day, and to the nurse who assisted him. There were beautiful beds and elaborate fittings of all kinds.

There are in this store some 1500 to 2000 employees. I then asked the doctor some questions to find out what sort of an inspection was carried on. In the three years that this doctor had been in charge he had found one, or at the most two cases of tuberculosis. This might be taken to mean that such a store as this was operated on the very best hygienic principles; unfortunately such was not the case. It did mean that not more than 30 or 40% of the employees knew that there was any such medical department in the store; that there was absolutely no inspection of any kind whatsoever of the employees as a whole, that there were no rules in regard to spitting, that there was no place for any one who had a cough or a cold to spit, and that practically no one used this department except a few of the girls who came there to lie down or rest during their noon hour, or who came there for relief of headache or some other minor thing, or else were carried there after they had fainted under the stress of their work downstairs. And yet there is no doubt whatsoever in my mind that the owner of this store believes that he has a very fine system of medical supervision and that the money he pays out for the services of his doctor and his nurse is very well spent indeed.

Compare this condition of affairs with that which has taken place in the little town of Oxford, Massachusetts. Oxford is a village of some 400 or 500 inhabitants, with one large factory. The owner of this factory, whose son is one of the foremost physicians of Boston, found out that there was a large amount of tuberculosis among his employees; indeed the death rate from consumption in this little town had been proportionately as high as any place in Massachusetts; manifestly there was a flaw somewhere. With the help and advice of his son, his factory was posted with plain, simple regulations in regard to the health of the employees, in regard to expectoration, telling what to do in case any one had a cough or a cold; proper sputum cups and spittoons were put in the proper places; foremen were instructed to keep a watchful eye on the workers under them, and were shown what signs and symptoms they were to be on the lookout for. If one of their workmen or girls had a cough, or looked poorly, he or she was to be sent to headquarters where a doctor made an examination and prescribed what was proper. The result was that in a year the mortality from consumption in this town fell to almost zero.

In two large mills in Providence, the Brown & Sharpe Manufacturing Company and the Wanskuck Woolen Mills, which together employ about 5200 operators, a system similar to that introduced into the Joslin factory at Oxford was started. The owners of the factories were seen and their interest obtained; notices were posted on the bulletin boards of the factories, mentioning no names, but merely stating that there was thought to be a large amount of tuberculosis among the employees of the factories, and that this disease while very hard to cure in the later stages was easy to cure if the patients were gotten hold of early enough. Employees with a cough, or who were in any way run down, were advised to go to the office where they could obtain a careful examination and suggestions as to treatment. In addition to this, the foremen of each department were seen and instructed as to the early symptoms of tuberculosis, such as cough, pallor, loss of weight, etc., and were told to send in as quiet and tactful a way as possible such of their workmen as they saw fit to the office for examination. The result was that in less than ten months' time 34 operators came for examination, 18 of whom were found to have tuberculosis, and out of these 18 cases 50% after a few months' treatment returned to work fully restored in health and working capacity. This work in Providence has been followed in other places, especially Newark, Brockton, and to a small degree in Pittsburg. The great difficulty is to get the interest of the mill owners and to persuade them that this is a good thing.

The State Inspectors of Health, recently appointed, can do a great deal in finding out the exact state of affairs in different manufacturing towns and in the various industries of this State. They cannot do much toward eradication of this disease, however, unless they have the cooperation of the owners of these large concerns, and this can only be obtained by education,—by forcing home the truth to the workers that it will be money in their pockets to keep their employees up to the best possible working standard. Here again is a chance for the women of the State to get after the men and point out to them what has been done especially in Providence and in Oxford, Massachusetts, and what ought to be done in the future.

5. What private individuals can do.

I began this talk by trying to point out what could be done in the home, that is, what fathers and mothers could do and what they should know about tuberculosis, and I want to end it by again emphasizing that fact,— that it is the private individual exercising his influence and spreading the knowledge of this disease and how to prevent it, among his own circle of friends and acquaintances, who is the real force of this campaign. Cooperation and organization of all forces, churches, women's clubs, factory owners, state and local boards of health, and the medical profession, can carry on the work, but in order for their work to be effective the public at large, individually, must be taught, and this can best be done by the influence of one individual on another.

Newton Centre can give the other sections of this city some valuable lessons in the method of presenting its claims to the city government. The hearing on Wednesday evening at City Hall on the proposition to purchase the Cousens' Block property for park purposes was a splendid illustration. The matter was well handled in its preliminary stages by the efficient Improvement Association.
The facts as laid before the mayor and aldermen were simply but strongly stated and the leading citizens of the village were present to say a favorable word. The presence of a large delegation of ladies added immensely to the impression which the entire hearing made on disinterested spectators. It is by such methods that Newton Centre has obtained its municipal improvements with the least amount of friction and in the briefest amount of time.

A five million state tax was said to be a possibility this week by the House Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. This would add something like $19,000 to our present state tax, making it about an even $100,000. This is only one of the possibilities which indicate that our tax rate for 1908 will be greatly increased.

The movement to change the five hour continuous one session in the Bigelow district is rapidly gaining strength. With time to make a careful and complete canvass, it is possible that a large majority of parents would be found to favor discontinuance of the present "pernicious" plan.

GILDED DOME

Important matters are now under consideration by both branches of the Great and General Court. On Wednesday, the House killed the bill to give to the state the taxes for all public utility corporations. As this measure would have nullified our city treasury the sum of $35,921.43, its defeat is of considerable concern to our tax payers. Yesterday, the House debated the bill to divide the corporation taxes with the cities and towns where the business of the corporation happens to be. At present the city or town where the stockholder resides receives all the tax. This bill will affect Newton to the extent of over $22,- 000, and if it passes would be a serious blow to our tax rate. It is needless to say that all our representatives have worked early and late against both these bills.

The pure milk bills were referred to the next General Court and those unfortunate communities which rely on contract milk must still take chances in obtaining this necessity of life.

The Public Lighting committee is also considering a bill to extend the sliding scale principle now in force in the Boston Consolidated Gas Co. to other parts of the state. This plan has worked exceedingly well in Boston and under proper safeguards ought to be applied uniformly to the entire Commonwealth.

The Chelsea government by commission bill is moving thru the Legislature, notwithstanding the radical change it makes in the Massachusetts form of local government. Haverhill and Gloucester are also down for extreme changes in the matter of municipal government, altho not so broad as that proposed for Chelsea. While government by commission has become a fad in this vicinity, I believe that its day will be short. Massachusetts citizens, with the belief that taxation without representation is contrary to principles of popular liberty, bred in the bone, will not long remain passive under such an autocratic system of government.

Gov. Guild's chances for the Republican vice presidential nomination at Chicago continue to occupy a large amount of space in one of the leading Democratic papers of Boston. With such support it is not conceivable that Republicans will enthusiastically pressing his nomination. Gov.
Guild has many enemies in the party all over the state and his political future is by no means as rosy as the Boston Post would have one believe.
J. C. Brimblecom.

The annual meeting of the Eliot Guild was held Tuesday afternoon in the parlors of Eliot church. Annual reports were read and the following officers elected to serve the coming year: President, Mrs. John G. Andrews; vice president, Miss Miriam Drury; secretary, Miss Gladys Stevens; treasurer, Miss Dora Hadden.

ler, Miss Ethel Loveland, Miss Harriet Reid.

ning, Mrs. Sidney Ensign, Jr., Miss

The baseball team defeated the strong Rindge Manual Team by the score of 4 to 3 on Tuesday. Mellen was back in the game and pitched well.

The team was defeated by Waltham on Wednesday by the score of 4 to 1.
The men were stale on account of playing two games in succession, but it is hoped they will be able to win the second game, which will be played in June.

Daniel Mahoney was elected track captain on Thursday.
In its first league matches this season Newton high tennis team took two matches in singles and one in doubles from Rindge manual training courts Wednesday afternoon. In his match against Gill, Farrington of Rindge easily outclasses the Newton player. In the other matches the Newton players carried off the honors with little difficulty. The summary:

Gallett, Rindge, 6-2, 6-4. Hall, Newton, defeated Lynes, Rindge, 6-1, 6-9.

WONDERLAND.

Next Saturday afternoon, the 23rd, instant, at one o'clock the band will play, the hundreds of flags and streamers will be hung to the breeze and famous and popular Wonderland will be declared open to the people of New England for its third tri-phant season. Wonderland has been improved in every possible way, and the management promises to surprise the recreation-seeking people of New England with the magnitude and variety of the entertainment. As usual the very best of order will all ways be maintained. A specialty will be made of the music, and the shore dinners and genuine clam-bakes at popular prices. The "bakes" served only at stated hours, will be in charge of Mr. Charles E. Davidson, formerly of the Pemberton, Virginia Beach and Cushing's Island. The same efficient staff of executive officials will be in charge. The great fregarage will be greatly appreciated by parties who visit Wonderland in autos. Particular attention will be paid this year to excursionists and already many of the large fraternal clubs of New England have chosen dates upon which to see and enjoy the wonders of Wonderland by the sea at Revere Beach.

Let a grafter get under a cloud and he will steal its silver lining.

WHEAT

Is the standard of purity. It will cure stomach troubles, causing the fermentation caused by eating an overabundance of starchy food which causes indigestion.
The quality of the wheat used and the process of its manufacture are alone the secrets of its popularity. Rich in gluten and albumin, it furnishes a food that is almost perfect in nutrition. It is better than any animal food.
Makes PERFECT BREAD and an ideal breakfast cereal. It has been run the past year, extending perfect satisfaction. Grocers sell our meal in 5-lb. and 10-lb. packages, barrels, and half-barrels.

TELEPHONE FACTS

When the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company was formed, 25 years ago this fall, its constituent companies had a total of about 15,- 000 telephones in operation. The progress of telephony in this section of the world during the intervening quarter of a century is indicated by the fact that at the end of 1907 the New England Company's system in the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts had 290,- 000 telephones connected with it. At the present time there are more than 300,000 telephones so connected.

To supply this service, upwards of 600 exchanges are in operation, connecting more than 600,000 miles of wire, over which pass 400,000,000 conversations in the course of a single year. To carry on this tremendous business, with its ramifications extending to almost every town in the four states, an army of 523 employees has to be maintained, this number of employees being pretty evenly divided between men and women.

These figures are taken from the annual report of President Sherwin, and are full of interest to the student of economics. Children of today accept the telephone as a matter-of-fact convenience, yet their fathers and mothers remember when it was considered a marvellous invention. And so it was, but none the less marvellous has been its progress. The crude instruments have given way to modern ones that represent the last word in mechanical perfection. The long wires for connections that characterized the early days of the art have disappeared before a service that is almost instantaneous. Induction and other troubles have been diagnosed and remedied until transmission is now almost perfect.

That it has been worth while to make this expenditure in order to keep pace with the vanguard of progress, is shown by the statement that the gross revenue of this company for the year 1907 was $10,679,825.76. Expenses amounted to $8,513,422.64.
There was an increase in the net revenue of $342,522.72.

Only 33,920 stations were added to the New England Company and its associates during the year, a comparatively small number. Owing to high borrowing rates, however, it was deemed wiser not to push for business requiring heavy outlays for construction.

General Sherwin points out very clearly the threefold responsibility of the directors—"to provide for subscribers and the public a service of the highest attainable excellence and value, at equitable rates; to care for the well-being and reasonable compensation of the thousands of employees who serve with efficiency and fidelity the interests of the company and the community; and to secure to stockholders, who have paid many millions of dollars into the treasury for the building up and extension of the system of such enormous utility and value to the people of these states, a fair return upon their investment."

Here, in a single sentence, is set forth the true balance of a public service corporation—its relation to the public, to its employees, and to its stockholders. In this connection, it is stated that 93 per cent. of the total number of stockholders are residents of the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts.

Another phase of this question is touched upon as follows:

"In no other business is there a closer relation and more distinct identity of interest than that which exists between the company which furnishes this service, and the subscriber who employs it, or the community as a whole. It is for the interest of both that the high standards of service be maintained, that the rates for service and revenues of the company be adequate to provide for the operation, repair and renewal of the plant to the end that the service may be so maintained; and to provide further that such return be made to the investors who have put their capital into and assumed the hazards of the business, that further capital may be forthcoming as required for the continued extension and improvement of the system."

The statement that this company now operates 150,935 miles of toll wire opens up another line of thought on which to base some comparisons with conditions that existed as recently as 25 years ago. Today one talks from a pay station to any part of the territory of the New England Company without giving the matter a second thought, and business men use the long distance lines to New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other places. Less than quarter of a century ago, however, a conversation between places 50 miles apart was deemed remarkable. In fact, the telephone has affected the entire organization of business. The little companies existing here and there, many of them without connection with each other, gave way to one large company, and the later, by providing on a broad scale the means of inter-communication has brought together not only villages and cities but states and great sections of the country.

ing the constitution.

CITY HALL NOTES

A largely attended hearing was held on Wednesday evening by the committee on Public Works and Finance, sitting jointly, on the proposition that the city contribute $4000 towards the purchase of the Cousens' Block property at Newton Centre for park purposes. President A. E. Alvord of the Newton Centre Improvement Association conducted the hearing and Messrs. C. M. Goddard, G. S. Smith, W. E. Parker, Wm. M. Flanders, A. C.
Walworth, A. L. Rand, H. H. Kendall, ex alderman E. B. Bowen, Representative E. B. Bishop, Hon. J. M. W. Hall, and Mrs. F. E. Anderson also spoke.
Mayor Hutchinson called the attention of those present to the serious financial difficulty in which the city finds itself, and the heavy loss in personal property, and the large areas of real estate eliminated from taxation by gifts and devotion to educational and religious purposes. Besides the speakers these persons were present, Col. and Mrs. M. E. Cobb, Messrs. H.
J. Carlson, Allen Hubbard, H. A. Ely,
G. W. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Chas.
Copeland, Mrs. R. J. Smith, Mrs. E. C.
Sands, Mrs. E. M. Strout, Mrs. W. M.
Flanders, Mrs. Cogswell, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. White, Mr. Michael Buckley and Mr. Sumner Clement.

It is freely predicted around the hall that the tax rate will be about $18.00 per $1,000, a jump of $1.60 over that of 1907.

Lot's wife also had a lot of trouble.

MRS. MARY E. COLE

The death of Mary E. Cole, wife of Mr. Alfred W. Cole of Newtonville, has removed not only from her home and immediate circle of friends, but from the church and community life, a singularly beautiful and helpful personality. Endowed with rich gifts of mind and character as well as personal charm, she imparted to those with whom she came in contact and to the organizations with which she was associated, the strength and inspiration of a life devoted to the highest interests. Essentially womanly, her home was of supreme importance, ever claiming her best powers of heart and mind.

Next to the home, the church received her loyal, enthusiastic support. In the spiritual, social, and administrative activities of the church she was equally able.

The splendid consecration which marked her work as a Sunday school teacher still bears fruit in the lives of a group of women who are earnestly working for Christ and His church. The Circle of King's Daughters whose ministrations to the needy and large undertakings for social welfare have won for it a high place among the spiritual forces in Central church, was organized and presided over by her for some years.

The Missionary Societies of the church were faithfully supported by her, and the meetings of Charity Square will not be the same without that bright, genial presence, so productive of sociability.

In the Ladies' Fund Committee ever since its formation, its chairman for many years, especially during the time when the women of the church bent every energy to the raising of funds for the organ and furnishings of the new church, she displayed the practical executive ability, which coupled with her enthusiasm and rare tact, made it as a member of that committee has lately said, "a delight to work with her."

As in the church, so in the Every Saturday Club of which she was long a most valued member, she contributed generously from a vigorous mind and a keen but kindly wit. Her interest in the Newtonville Woman's Guild never flagged, nor stood for less than her full share in the intellectual, social and philanthropic work for which it stands and with which she ardently sympathized.

And when the Nonantum Day Nursery Association was formed, despite failing strength, she took upon herself this fresh interest, the same self-forgetting zeal which had characterized the work of other years.

Yet even more truly is the spirit of her life expressed in countless ministrations to the sorrowing and needy. To the oppressed, whether in mind, body or spirit, she gave unreservedly of her deep sympathy, thoughtful care and the power of a clear, firm Christian faith.

Because she is gone, there will be many lonely lives; because she lives in the deeds which she has wrought and inspired, there will be many stronger, worthier lives.

If one were to sum up in one word, the life that she has lived among us, that word would be—service.

LEWANDOS

Facing the metropolitan boulevard and the handsome new bridge crossing the Charles River at Watertown, stands a plant which has had a wonderfully interesting history and has established a leading record among New England enterprises. This is Lewandos, a place that is well worth visiting, for it is full of surprises for those who know little or nothing of modern methods such as are in operation here.

What impresses the visitor at the outset is the excellent light and cleanliness of the place. The walls are white, the window finishings of dull green, and the floors of cement or slate and treated in such a way as to eliminate dust from the air. Sunlight streams in and every one of the more than five hundred employees has plenty of room in which to work. With so much attention to sanitation, it is little wonder that even the most difficult labor is made easier and that the day's task is performed with the minimum of fatigue.

Everybody must realize that a dyeing and cleansing establishment, together with a perfectly equipped laundry, requires considerable room, many hands and persons of unquestioned ability in charge of each department.
But those who know of Lewandos only by occasional calls for articles that have been sent there from 17 Temple place, 284 Boylston street, 2206 Washington street, or the Lynn, Worcester, Newport, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, New Haven, Hartford or Providence offices can have little conception of the magnitude of the enterprise, the system that underlies the receipt and return of even the smallest bits of fine lace or the restoration of an elaborate ball gown.

The very latest improvements in the way of machinery are installed at Lewandos. No matter how good the old may be, they are discarded as soon as something better comes on the market. Labor-saving devices, which mean not only easier work for men and women, but no wear and tear on materials are here, even to an arrangement that keeps buttons intact instead of tearing them from the place where they belong and with them pieces of the goods.

It might be imagined that cleansing a suit of clothes, an infant's bonnet, frills and tucks and ribbons, a lingerie waist, a velvet jacket, a silk quilt, an imported kimono, delicate laces, carnations, blankets, etc., means simply putting the article through the wet or dry process, whichever is necessary, according to the fabric. But the inspection, ripping, working over each separate spot, brushing and mending are important parts done with the greatest care. Then afterward there is more inspection, airing in heated rooms, replacing of trimmings, velvet the articles are at last tucked away in the neat green boxes with fresh white tissue, one may be sure that the cleansing process has been done "on honor."

The same is true in the dyeing and the laundry departments. In fact, the entire establishment bears the imprint of strict attention to the smallest details that mean satisfaction to customers, and from that mean satisfaction to customers and from that has come the striking success that has characterized Lewandos from the beginning.

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

This does not mean that you are compelled to take your prescription to the druggist whose name appears on the paper.

The prescription department in our store is always watched over by a registered pharmacist; a doctor's prescriptions are always filled exactly according to the way he intended they should be filled.

THEATRES

Kelth's Theatre.—Comedy is seemingly the key-note in the program that has been arranged for next week at Kelth's. The principal features will be Jesse Lank's capital novelty, "A Night on a House Boat," a most reasonable act, and is a very charming picture scenically, while the action and the songs are bright and snappy. Captain George Auger, the tallest man in the world, and his company, which includes that great midget comedian, Ernst Rommel, will play "Jack the Giant Killer" for the first time at Kelth's. It is a great attraction for the youngsters.

The Six American Dancers, vaudeville's best ensemble dancing turn, Homer B. Mason, Marguerite Keeler and their company, in that droll sketch, "Hooked By Crook," Netta Vestia, a dainty comedienne; W. L. Werden and Lella Taylor, who show how artlessly illustrated songs can be presented; Joe and Sadie Britton, a great pair of colored entertainers; the Keeley Brothers, bag punchers and burlesque dancers; Banks and Newton, conversationalists and dancers; the Musical Craigs, who play upon a variety of instruments; the Meeh International Trio, Samsonian athletes, and new Kinetograph pictures will complete the bill.

Boston Theatre.—Notwithstanding the fact that in every instance the success of the plays put on at the Boston for a run was as to more than justify the Management in continuing them, it has been decided to return to the established stock idea of presenting each play for one week only, with the possibility of putting it on again at a future date, if the patrons of the theatre so desire. The first of these will be presented next week, "The Other Girl"—one of the most popular plays ever written by Augustus Thomas. The full strength of the Boston Stock Company will appear in this piece, including Mr. Melrose, Miss Gordon and Mr. Rebus, while Mr. George Parker will have an opportunity in "Kid" Garvey, the prize fighter from the famous Muldoon farm, who is engaged for a trainer for a young minister. He instantly becomes mixed up in the latter's love affairs. The piece is of absorbing interest and brings out the best qualities of the characters in the most surprising manner.

Tremont Theatre.—Commencing Monday, May 25, at the Tremont Theatre, Manager B. C. Whitney will present his merry musical company of 70, in "A Knight for a Day." Contrary to the suggestion of its title, "A Knight for a Day" is not a tilt at the mail coat period, but a roaring musical piece of people of today. The Knight in the case is a diminutive waiter played by comedian John Slavin. He gets his knightly title because one of the big guns of today's nobility in London one day after dining forgot to tip him. The waiter tipped himself by appropriating the Knight's credentials which the Knight had gone away and forgotten. Declaring himself a Knight in his own right, the little waiter starts out on a career of misadventures. Besides presenting two big comic values in Comedian Slavin and Miss Vokes, "A Knight for a Day" is accredited with two remarkable spectacular novelties, one a giant sea-saw, alive with tomboy girls and illuminated by a thousand lights, and the other a marvelous electric curtain composed of myriad lights, constantly twinkling and constantly changing in hue, the effect requiring the entire perspective of the stage for its presentation and reflecting something of the phenomena of a shower of falling stars.

MISS EASTMAN PLEADS GUILTY. Miss Emma L. Eastman, aged 31, living at 32 Maple street, Waltham, pleaded guilty last Friday morning in the police court to larceny from J. S. Kennedy Co., grocers, by whom she had been employed as a bookkeeper at Newton Upper Falls.

Miss Eastman told the court that she had appropriated to her own use probably $30 of the firm's money at different times. When Judge Kennedy asked her what she had done with the money she said she had rather not tell. At the request of a relative of Miss Eastman the case was continued until May 26 for a further hearing. In the meantime it will be perfectly proper to pay back the money which has been taken," said Judge Kennedy.

HIGH SCHOOL CONCERT. An admirable program was ably given by musicians of the Newton high school in the first concert this year of the school orchestra in the assembly hall of the high school at Newtonville last Friday evening.

The concert began with Kenneth's "Bostonian" and Lansing's "Guild Festival Waltz" given by the orchestra. Miss Eva Sanderson sang an improvisation by Massenet, and was followed by a banjo duet, "Hall's Blue Ribbon," by Misses May G. and Nina G. Cotton.

Miss Mary Sprague rendered Handel's "Largo," and this number was followed by "Romance of the Rose," sung by Misses Mary and Sallie C. Sprague and Miss Muriel Heebner.

Miss Edith Soden gave a cello solo, "Gavotte," and was followed by a vocal solo, "Doat Thou Know that Fair Land," by Miss Eva Sanderson. A quartet comprising Miss Ruth Ivy, Miss Soden, L. E. Snow and Sydney Clarke gave a selection from compositions of Tchaikowsky. Miss Vida Chase played a piano solo, "Valse de Concert;" Miss Ruth Ivy gave a violin solo, "Romance Andalusa," and the program was brought to a successful close with "Garland March" played by the entire orchestra.

The ushers were Charles E. Holbrook, Samuel S. Crocker, Dana C. Hadron, Wade Wilkins, Clarence A. Stewart, Frank L. Converse, Charles H. Paul, Samuel T. Farquhar, George H. Mellen, Jr. and John Schafer. The patronesses were Mrs. S. W. Davis, Mrs. R. C. Heebner, Mrs. H. W. Holbrook, Mrs. C. D. Meserve, Mrs. Frank E. Spaulding, Mrs. Francis W. Sprague 2d, Mrs. Samuel Thurber, Jr. and Mrs. E. D. van Tassel.

NEWTON'S CIVIC CENTRE.

Private citizens' generosity, applied to transformation of the estate once owned by Gov. Claflin, is to give the city of Newton a site for its future public buildings—administrative, educational and athletic—which will be unequalled by any city in New England. —The Baccalaureate service for the Graduating Class of the Mount Ida School will be held in the Channing church next Sunday at 4.30 P. M., with sermon by Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson. The service is open to the public.

—Channing church was fairly well filled last Sunday afternoon with the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hallett, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Warren and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Garcelon, who came to witness the christening of their children. Mrs. Francis E. Stanley stood sponsor for the little Hallett daughter, who was named for her grandmother, Augusta.

Box 112 was rung last Monday afternoon for a slight fire in the house on Oakleigh road occupied by F. S. Belding and owned by Stephen Moore. The cause was unknown and the damage was slight. The local engine mistook the box for 12 and went to Kenrick park before the mistake was discovered. The apparatus was being run with a two horse instead of a three horse hitch and considerable difficulty was experienced in getting up the Park street hill. The fire was over by the time the engine arrived at Hunnewell hill.

ELECTRIC MAIL SERVICE FOR NEWTON.

Arrangements have been perfected with the Boston Elevated Railway Co., whereby the entire midnight collection of the city is now dispatched from Nonantum Square at 5.30 in the morning thus reaching Boston in ample season for the first delivery in the city and suburbs, also connecting with the first mails out in all directions. This is something the citizens of Newton have never before been able to do.

We desire to call special attention to this service as a trial of it will convince all of its great importance and value over the present method of handing letters to the carriers in the morning, to mail.

Arrangements have also been perfected by which the evening collection of letters at Newton, Newtonville and West Newton takes place a half hour later than formerly and yet is dispatched to Boston in season to connect for New York and the South, reaching New York City in time for the first morning delivery and first mails out for the South. The collection has also been largely extended.

An every-day evening collection has been established at Auburndale which has heretofore only been done on Sunday.

Girls like compliments—also ice cream and oysters.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Lanesville Congregational church last week Sunday, in regard to the death of the late Deacon Henry A. Inman of West Newton.

"God, in His all-wise Providence having called from earth to his Heavenly reward our esteemed friend and brother, Deacon Henry A. Inman of West Newton, we, the members of the Lanesville Congregational church and the Christian Endeavor Society, do hereby express:

"1. Our heartfelt sorrow at the loss of one whom we have learned to appreciate as a noble Christian gentleman, a loving husband and father, and a helpful friend and worker in the Lord's vineyard.

"2. Our comprehension of the loss we have sustained spiritually, our late brother's presence in our midst during many past seasons having been ever most cheering, while his voice oft uplifted in exhortation and prayer was an inspiration to all.

"3. Our pleasant recollections of his kindly and genial nature, oft evidenced as we have met him at various social functions while he was sojourning among us during the summer season.

"4. Our sincere sympathy with his bereaved family, whom may God comfort, as He alone can. How pleasant the assurance that they have that 'It is well with the righteous.'

"We further decree that a copy of these resolutions be placed upon the church records and also be sent to the family of our late brother.

LECTURE-RECITAL ON ENGLISH MUSIC

On the evening of Wednesday, May 20, Madame Isidora Martinez gave a lecture-recital, entertaining as well as instructive in character, at the hospitable home of Mr. J. G. Thompson, 88 Otis street, Newtonville.

The evening was under the auspices of The Polymnia, as a benefit to Madame Martinez who is the devoted and inspiring musical-director of that very much alive little society.

In the early centuries of England music was a part of the everyday life of the common people. They sang part-songs and concerted music as do the Germans today. Among the qualifications in many of the Workingmen's Guilds was the requirement that the members should be able to read music at sight; and to advertise their trade, and sing their adventures in rhyme. Not to be able to do his part in music was to declare himself ill equipped for the industrial as well as the social life of the day. They might not—were not expected to, indeed—read and write; but not to sing was a disgrace. As an illustration of this undercurrent and accompaniment of music to organized labor, a Rosendel of the Watermen was sung by a male trio. This was known to have been sung in 1453 on Lord Mayor's Day, as the Lord Mayor was rowed in his great barge of State from St.

The earliest known piece of music for several voices is an English canon "In the unison" (i. e. without change of key) contained in a manuscript which is known to have been transcribed as early as 1220; and of course it was already well known then. It is a song of Spring: "Summer is a comin' in." This was the first illustration of the evening, (sung by a quartette of mixed voices) and is a remarkable example of the musical excellence of the period. The manuscript is now in the British Museum. Photographic copies of it may be found in the music collections of some of the great libraries.

Up to the 15th century, the advance of popular music was earlier and greater in England than elsewhere. Upon this music of the people the churches drew for their music. Sacred words—Latin hymns—would be set to some well known song, the key would be changed probably to a minor, and there would be a new hymn-tune.

Ballads, madrigals, and other folk-songs of the 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th centuries were described and sung by Madame Martinez, whose flexible voice and marvellous accompanying showed her broad musicianship; delighting her audience anew. Other illustrations of the madrigal were given by a trio and quartette of ladies' voices:—"The Nightingale" and Dr. Cooke's "Hark! the Lark."

The evident affection of the English people for that disagreeable bird.

the cuckoo, was explained by Madame Martinez) by the fact that only when the cuckoo is heard are the people assured that spring is really settled. Hence his popularity in English poetry and music.

The evening's program was concluded by the singing by the Polymnia of a glee which though comparatively recent is of the style of the Elizabethan period: "You Stole My Love." The poetry was written by Anthony Munday in 1553. The evening was one of somewhat unusual interest, calling forth many expressions of interest and pleasure from an attentive and appreciative audience.

Our milk is supplied from fine dairies, the superior character of which is shown by the following description of one of them: There is a separate cow stable, with concrete floor and whitewashed walls and ceiling. A milk room adjacent at one end, equipped and plastered, with a cement floor. This room contains an aerator and a refrigerator. The stable is warmed in the coldest weather by hot water. The managers have a supply of pure water. The stock is pure Jersey, inspected by the State and examined before purchase. Have other dairies which are managed with equal care. Take your milk from clean, well inspected sources.

MR. LANGFORD DEAD.

Mr. John T. Langford, one of the best known residents of this city died last Friday afternoon at his home on Walnut park, Newton. Mr. Langford has been in poor health for the past few years, but has been seriously ill for about three weeks.

John Thompson Langford was born at Fall River, Mass., February 8, 1842, the sixth son of William and Sarah Langford.

He was fitted for college, but on account of his health abandoned collegiate life and engaged in business, devoting his time mainly to outdoor pursuits. For the past 30 years he has been a contracting engineer and builder of waterworks. He has built in whole or in part the waterworks in forty cities and towns in the New England states, besides many systems of fire protection for manufacturing corporations. Mr. Langford has resided in Newton during the last 31 years and has always taken a deep interest in public improvements within this city and the metropolitan district, also in all things pertaining to the welfare of the city, including a deep interest in politics, and has served for several years as a member of the Republican city committee and as a representative in the General Court during the years 1893 and 1900.

He was a member of Grace Episcopal church, a thirteenth degree Mason, a member of Winslow Lodge and of the Newton Club.

Mr. Langford married November 20, 1867, Mrs. Ellen Marcan Priest-Kingsbury, and they have had two children, Ellen Mabel Langford, who married George Wesley Priest, October 16, 1900, and William Priest Langford, who died in 1881.

The funeral was held from his late residence on Walnut park on Monday afternoon and was largely attended by friends, business associates and delegation from Winslow Lewis Lodge. The service was conducted by Rev. Laurens MacLure, rector of Grace church, and a male quartet sang several selections. The floral tributes were especially beautiful. The body was taken to Forest Hills for interment.

Women's Clubs.

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

Address of Mrs. May Wright Sewall given before the State Federation at Hudson on April 28:

"Woman's Struggle for Industrial and Economic Independence."
"This is a struggle still in progress. I am not sure that the acute stage has been reached; certainly it is not yet passed. But our study of this subject and perhaps our advancement of a final solution will be aided by a consideration of certain fundamental principles."

"First: The validity and permanence of the much quoted law of supply and demand resting upon the facts that demand, ordinarily, if not invariably, precedes supply, and is like a call to which supply makes answer."

"Second: That notwithstanding the enormous change in the conditions under which women have pursued their work, the changes in the work callings, the changes in the work which they actually do, have in the last one hundred years hardly at all, been more rapid or more numerous than the changes during the same period in the industries carried on by men."

"Third: That the vital point in the whole question, the crux of the matter is the question of pay."

"Fourth: The struggle, strenuous as it is, begun unconsciously, and only gradually have women, themselves, become conscious of the principles involved in the situation."

"This struggle, itself, has experienced almost the same fluctuations that have the other sociological struggles with which it has been connected. So far as I have observed or as my studies of the situation have given me knowledge I do not find what could be called anywhere in any society a constitutional objection to a woman's doing any amount of work of any kind which she desires to do, is able to do, or which circumstances seem to indicate it expedient for her to do; society's objection is not against woman's doing the work, but against her being paid for it."

"This blunt statement is justified only by the blindness with which the truth is generally perceived. In fact the actual work which the women of this generation are doing, is not in itself essentially more unlike the actual work done by women of preceding generations, than is any sociological condition of the present time unlike its historical predecessor. Women today cook, bake, wash, iron, knit, spin, weave, sew, and under these general heads, do a large proportion of the manual work which is done by them."

As has been often pointed out, the difference consists in this: that formerly woman carried on all of these industries coincidentally under her own roof, for her own family, and found her pay in board and lodging; that, of course being inevitably according to the circumstances of her family and the scale of her life. At the present time the great department stores on a gigantic scale, illustrate what each woman's house was on a small scale, a century ago.

"The woman who now goes to the department store to fit out herself and her family for the season, finds woman selling at the different counters of such a store the products of the labor of other women who have produced these goods in different factories, all of which were produced in small quantities by one woman, under one roof, for the use of one family, a hundred years ago. Now, women did not produce the conditions which have taken these industries away from the fire-side; neither did any man consciously produce them, and it must be admitted that the removal of each industry in turn from the home has been the cause of much regret and much serious concern for the consequences. As one after another familiar bit of household machinery dropped out of sight, it was feared always that the home would go with it, and as each dropped out of sight women did not leave their own pursuits to go in search of new, but they left familiar conditions, that is, their own firesides, to seek under new conditions their old labor."

"When women did all of these things in the home, no one thought of them as spinners or weavers, or seamstresses, or milliners, or shoe makers or factory operatives of any kind. No one thought that any women were pursuing industries; no one thought about women as a factor in the economic condition of the country. Why? Because when this work was done under each woman's roof, by each woman's fireside, in the immediate presence of those for whom it was done, habit dulled observation; it was taken for granted. Moreover, it was not paid for, excepting in that divine substance which can neither be mined, counted or appraised. But when to carry on her own work, woman was forced to go where her work had been taken, terror seized the average mind. Everything that in the history of the struggle for the higher education of women has been urged against that higher education, has also been urged against woman's industrial independence. In briefly enumerating these objections I cannot do better than to apply to the industrial situation the substance of President Eliot's summary of the arguments against higher education for women, in his address before the convention in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae. In substance the objections were these:

"Woman were too frail physically to do this work. Sincere people honestly thought this, forgetting that it was not nearly so hard to manufacture one single article in a factory arranged for the express purpose of producing it, as it had been to manufacture a hundred articles under conditions and in a building not adapted to the manufacture of anyone of them. It was also sincerely thought and sincerely urged that the morals of women would be corrupted by working in numbers as employees of men, unrelated to them. A third objection was that the freedom of such industrial life would unfit woman for domestic life. That two of these arguments seemed to refute each other only shows how human were the minds in which they originated. However, the industries that were formerly carried on have all gone excepting only cooking, serving food, and cleaning house."

"My own conviction is strong that the best results of this differentiation of industries, and consequent forcing of woman out of the so-called domestic into the so-called industrial world, has been to place woman's work where it can be seen and where it has to be paid for in the coin of the realm. Formerly the only thing which sanctified this work when it was done under the home roof was that which is the final sanctifying influence—and the only—the love which was the motive power in the home factory. The gain is visibly manifest in two places; not only in the factory where the woman is paid, but in the homes out of which the women go to toil in factories. It has been discovered that the home does not go with any piece of machinery, or with any occupation; it goes only when the woman in whose heart its altar is enshrined, goes."

The late John T. Langford was one of our most public spirited citizens, one who persisted in agitating reforms in which he believed, in the face of most discouraging conditions.
His work in connection with the abolition of grade crossings on the north side of the city caused a complete change of front on the part of the railroad and city authorities, who had agreed upon an elevated structure and he created a public sentiment which finally led to the depression of the tracks. He retained his acute interest in all public questions to the last, altho poor health prevented his taking the active work on his shoulders as in former years.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The regular monthly meeting of the School committee was held on Wednesday evening, with ten members present. Mr. Bassett presided in the absence of Chairman Gorham.

Supt. Spaulding reported the opening of the baths in the Stearns school and on his recommendation, authority was granted to open them to the public on payment of a nominal fee.

The resignation of Miss Moulton of the High school, Miss Murray of the Bigelow school, Miss Johnson of the Williams school, and Miss Ayers, teacher of sloyd were accepted. The annual list of reappointments of teachers was adopted.

The superintendent was authorized to appoint from the teachers granted a leave of absence for next year, four representatives to visit the English schools in accordance with arrangements made with the National Civic Federation.

These appointments for vacation schools were approved: Stearns school, Lillian A. Young, supervisor, Joseph E. Owens, wood working, Matthias Hollander, reed work, Cora E. Bigelow, reed and raf-fa work, Anna Costello, sewing and dressmaking, Grace Riske, assistant,
M. Louise Randall, primary, Marion D. Bassett, kindergarten, Mason school Mary M. Moore, supervisor, Lawrence A. Sprague, woodwork.

The Public Buildings Commissioner was requested to equip all school buildings with large gong to be used for fire drills only.

The school session plan now in vogue in Newton Centre was continued until otherwise ordered. It is understood that 87% of the parents favored continuance of the modified form of one session.

A petition was received from the Bigelow district requesting a change in the five hour one session in that district. The matter was referred to the superintendent to send out a circular inquiry as to the proposed change.

MR. H. A. INMAN

We print with pleasure the following personal tribute to Deacon Inman by Mr. William L. Shearer, president of the Paine Furniture Company:

"Henry A. Inman, like a well made bell, rang true wherever you touched him. So difficult is it in the manufacturing of things to make a bell which shall, in every part of it, ring exactly true to one note, it has been said that only two such are ever produced in each three thousand. The proportion of thoroughly genuine men in the average city or community is a very much smaller one. The notable thing about this man was that he always stood for the same things, and his quality of his honor, his justice, and charity seemed never to change between Sunday and Sunday. He was eloquent as a speaker upon religious themes, and he was very effective as a salesman; yet he never consciously employed the arts of the salesman.
He was eloquent in the one case, and effective in the other because he dealt with facts in an absolutely truthful and genuine way; but, unconsciously, he filled those facts and covered them with the genial strength of his kindly, earnest sympathy. One of the highest tributes we can pay Mr. Inman is that he was connected with us for twenty-seven years, and never in a single instance misrepresented us, or the merchandise in which we dealt."

MR. THOMAS DEAD.

Mr. Arthur C. Thomas for a number of years a resident of West Newton died on Monday morning, after a few weeks illness aged 46 years. Mr.
Thomas was born in Manchester, Mass., and for over twenty years has been connected with the banking firm of R. L. Day and Co. of Boston, in which he became partner some five years ago. He was a member of the Unitarian church of West Newton. He is survived by a widow and two sons, John Dana Thomas and Frank Rogers Thomas. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at his late home on Berkeley street, West Newton, Rev. Julian C. Jaynes officiating and the interment was at Newton centery.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

While a large number of papers and important business was transacted last Monday night at the regular meeting of the board of aldermen the session was only an hour in length.
President Weston was in the chair and the absentees were Alderman Burr, Clarke, Day, Gray, Palmer and Webster.

Hearings were held on petitions of the Gas Light Co. for pole locations on Allston street, and for attachments on Norman road, and on the proposed laying out, etc. of Braneland avenue.
No one appeared.

The invitation of Chas. Ward Post G. A. R. to attend the observance of Memorial Day was accepted.

Mayor Hutchinson's veto of the permit to C. H. Keefe of Waterbury to transport intoxicating liquors on the ground that "our residents may be sufficiently served by the number to whom permits have recently been issued" was received and referred to the license committee.

Communications from the City Clerk of Chelsea expressing the appreciation of the city government for aid after the late fire, and a communication from Mayor John E. Beck of Chelsea thanking the fire department for its services on April 12 were placed on file.

President Weston stated that the Hunnewell club were to give a reception to Congressman John W.
Weeks on June 8 and that invitations had been sent to each member of the board. It was thereupon voted to assign June 9 as the next meeting of the board.

Hearings were then ordered on that day on petitions of H. W. Orr Co., Washington street, M. Frank Lucas, 14 Lucas court, and S. H. Fessenden, Essex road, to keep gasoline, and on petitions of the Telephone Co. for pole locations on Grant avenue, and for attachments on Pleasant street.

Petition of J. H. Smith, agent for Adams Express Co. for wagon license and permit to transport intoxicating liquor was granted. Petition of C. E.
Josselyn for permit to sell fireworks from June 15 was received and subsequently the usual order passed authorizing issue of firework licenses after June 20th.

Petition of John E. Sargent for common victualler license in Nonantum square was granted. Leave to withdraw, and that of Mrs. J. A. Hovey for damages to dress skirt and of G.
S. Sprague for street watering on Arlington street, were referred.

On report of committee a tree was ordered removed on Pleasant street, street watering ordered on Lombard and Claremont streets, sewer construction authorized in Winchester, Boylston, Centre and Walnut streets, leave to withdraw granted on petition for sewer in Salisbury road, $48,803 granted for city expenses to June 15, the city treasurer authorized to borrow $500,000 on temporary loans, $90,000 in serial sewer bonds authorized, wagon license granted H. T. Bagley, the Telephone Co. granted relocation of 3 poles and one new pole on Linwood avenue, and attachments on Montvale road, Brookline and Chestnut streets, and hearings assigned on June 9 on the lay out of Chaske avenue, Winona street, and Kaposia street under the betterment act, for changing line of Centre and Clarke street, for proposed widening of Laundry brook, and for the laying out of Forest avenue.

The board also approved the construction of a wooden passage-way at the church of the Messiah, and the incorporation of the "Players, Incorporated." Leave to withdraw was also given on petitions of Celestino Bocorosa for street musician license, Max Canter for pawnbroker's license, J. J.
Troy for liquor transportation permit and for C. A. Person for permit to keep gasoline on Allerton road.
Orders were also adopted for observance of June 17, for observance of July 4th and prohibiting discharge of firecrackers before 4 A. M. on July 4th. A broad smile was on the faces of most of the aldermen when this last order was adopted. An order was also adopted laying out Braneland avenue, and authorizing the Printing apportionment to be credited with certain receipts.

A resolution submitted by the Committee on Public Fractions allowing a change in the kind and quality of poles in streets on consent of a majority of the abutters with 500 feet of such poles, was criticized by Alderman Bacon who did not like a variegated assortment of poles on one street as was possible. Alderman Underwood stated that the resolution simply carried out the existing policy of the city, except in limiting the distance on long streets. The custom is now to allow changes to be made on consent of a majority of the abutters on the whole street. This is a hardship on such streets as Washington or Centre streets. The Resolution was subsequently recommended.

Alderman Jones submitted the request of the Newton Centre Improvement Association with plan relative to proposed improvements in the Newton Centre Playground.

Mr. Jones said:
Some 18 or 20 years ago a tract of land of about 16 acres lying in Newton Centre was purchased and slightly less than two-thirds was paid by the residents of the vicinity and slightly more than one third was paid by the City. For several years work was done in the way of under-draining the land, a running track and base ball field were laid out, the entrance near Centre street was graded and some planting done and a little outdoor gymnastic apparatus was set in the field. The tennis courts were also made. About the time of the purchase of the property Olmstead and Co. made a rough sketch for its development. The plan has never been followed to any extent, a few paths were laid out, that plan is not available at the present time, inasmuch as it presupposed a relocation of Hammonds Brook. For ten or a dozen years there has been practically nothing done until this year.
This year from the regular Park appropriation the Mayor is doing con-erette E. Truette, the church organist gave a musical while the guests were assembling.

A small reception immediately followed the ceremony, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harding, 417 Centre street. Mr. and Mrs. Ellison were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs.
Harding, Mrs. William P. Ellison and Mr. Will Ellison.

The groom is one of the best known young men of the city. He is deeply interested in the work of the Newton Y. M. C. A. and in Elliot Church. He is connected with the banking house of R. L. Day & Co. of Boston.

BURGLARS AT NEWTON CENTRE

By breaking glass in rear windows and doors burglars entered three business places in Newton Centre Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. From each place small amounts of money were stolen. The breaks were discovered by patrolmen Groth and Mills shortly after 5 o'clock. The places entered were the grocery of Frank Frost & Co. in Bray block, 95 Union street, nearly opposite the Newton Centre railroad station; the provision store of the Louis E. Murphy estate, 794 Beacon street, and the drug store of William Hahn, 105 Union street. Entrance to Frost's grocery store was gained by breaking glass in a rear window and then opening the window.
In Hahn's drug store and Murphy's market glass in the rear doors was broken and the doors forced open.
There was little difficulty in opening the cash draw in the grocery, but it contained little more than $2. In the market the cash draw was pried open while in the drug store another small sum was secured from the cash register. Street lights shine into each of the stores, and it is believed that the burglars kept close watch of the patrolmen on duty in the vicinity and entered each place while they patrolled other parts of the routes.

MEMORIAL SUNDAY.

The annual memorial service of Charles Ward post 62, G. A. R., took place Sunday morning in the Lincoln park Baptist church at West Newton.
A large number of members were present, headed by Commander R. E.
Ashenden. The service was conducted by Rev. Edwin F. Snell, the pastor, who paid stirring tribute to the veterans.

Members of the post and of J. Wiley Edmonds camp, S. of V., attended a patriotic service the same afternoon in the Congregational church at Auburndale. Rev. William C. Gordon, minister of the church, gave a short address on "Remembering the Days of Old." Both services attracted large congregations in addition to the Grand Army veterans.

—Rev. Dr. Alexander McKenzie of Cambridge will preach next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in the chapel of Wellesley college. All are invited to attend.

B. & A. STILL IMPROVING

The sensational record of the Boston & Albany of May first where 274 trains made absolutely perfect time was not a thousand to one shot as the records for last week bear out. While a perfect record cannot be made every day, the time sheets for the week show that the B. & A. is near the top so far as train detentions go. On Monday, May 18, there was but one detention of 3 minutes. On May 19 no passenger trains were late and one American Express train detained 4 minutes. May 20, a broken brake caused one detention of 9 minutes. May 21 had 4 trains delayed a total of 37 minutes. May 22, two trains were held up 4 minutes. May 23, notwithstanding its number had one delay only of ten minutes. On all of these days 274 passenger trains were operated. On Sunday with but 190 trains in operation, four delays were reported aggregating 45 minutes.

AUTO BURNER

A four-cylinder Maxwell automobile, valued at $1200, was destroyed in a fire which occurred in the garage of Dr. George H. Talbot of Walnut street, Newtonville, Saturday evening, for which there was an alarm from box 23 at 8 o'clock. The fire spread to Dr. Talbot's dwelling, but the firemen extinguished the blaze with only slight damage resulting to the exterior of the building.

The machine had been used during the afternoon. Early in the evening a man went into the garage to perform some work of cleaning up. It is believed that he left a lighted lantern there and that the flames set the gasoline on fire.

An explosion occurred. The burning gasoline lit up the vicinity so brilliantly that many residents believed a Masonic building had caught. The fire attracted a large number of spectators.

He struck a telephone pole and broke his nose. He also sustained numerous cuts and bruises. He was attended by Dr. Otto L. Schofield. The Newton police ambulance was summoned, but as it was unable to secure the ambulance a private carriage was secured after a delay of about a half hour and Mr. Mullane was hurried to the Newton hospital. He will recover.

OUR HERO ARMY

Grizzled and grey, but with martial mien,
Our hero army assembles again
To pay tribute to their dead.

Their comrades have passed to the pebbly shore Where sound of battle is heard no more
'Tis the strains of the harp instead.
Once more they hear the battle cry!
The bursting of shells! and the sound seems high As on to the conflict they're led.

Proudly they march, as the music plays
They live again those trying days.
And move on with measured tread,
Cheers! for our heroes intrepid and true, Staunch defenders of the red, white and blue
That have fought for us,—and bled.

Hood's Milk is tested for its palatability by an approved hygienic method. It is also tested daily for wholesomeness and richness in our Chemical and Bacteriological Laboratory.

Its handling is kept under constant surveillance by Charles D. Sawin, M. D., who will cheerfully furnish results of his inspections. oughness of his course for he had done one thing for so many months that he was almost an expert at it, but his training was exceedingly narrow, and his knowledge to a large extent, valuable in only that office. For compensation, he received $100, or $150 a year. The system worked very well in those days, for the business man had time to instruct, and the boy was willing to pay tuition by working for low wages.

At the present time we see a marked change in the attitude of both the man and the boy. The business man had not time to conduct a school, and if he had, he could not afford to do it, and the boy is not satisfied to pay the high tuition rate for the narrow course of instruction; and so it seems that the demand for a fitting school for business is mutual. This change is illustrated by a recent interview with the senior member of one of Boston's largest dry-goods houses.

He said that twenty years ago his firm had no difficulty in securing the brightest boys of good families to enter their employ at a salary of $100 per year—$1.98 per week. Afterwards, $150 was offered, then $250, and now they employ boys with some business training, paying from $300 to $500 the first year, with prospects for more rapid advancement than formerly, of the principles of business are more because the boys with some knowledge, intelligent, and master the duties of their position more readily.

I believe that commercial training is as necessary for a young man about to enter business, as normal training is for a teacher, a course in theology for the minister, or a course in law for the lawyer. In no case is it absolutely necessary that one graduate from a special school before entering upon his chosen vocation or profession, but his chances of success are greatly enhanced if he has had a thorough training for his life work, and comparatively few enter the professions today without such training. In the light of the requirements of business as it is conducted today, what preparation is necessary?

This question has been much discussed by educators during the past decade, and the conclusions arrived at are shown in the curricula of the various schools offering business courses. These schools may be divided into three classes: private commercial schools, secondary schools, and higher institutions of learning giving special courses in commercial studies.

The private commercial schools, or business colleges, as they were called in the past, were the first to appear in offering a training for commercial life. At the time they were organized, there was no school in this country where bookkeeping and kindred branches could be studied. They have never claimed to be other than purely technical schools, assuming that the general foundation had been laid elsewhere, and those of the highest standing seek only such pupils as have a good general education. They give courses in bookkeeping, commercial law, penmanship, commercial correspondence, commercial geography, commercial arithmetic, shorthand and typewriting, and judging from the constantly increasing patronage, and the confidence of business men which they enjoy, such a course would seem to have much in its favor. Its greatest weakness is its brevity. Less than a year is the average time given to such a course; but this rush to get one thing and pass to another is characteristic of our times and our nation.

The strength of these schools lies in the system of individual instruction and the consequent thoroughness with which pupils do the required work. The following extract from the Constitution adopted by an organization of business school proprietors states very clearly the relation which the special education given by the schools should sustain to general education:

"We desire, also, to state most emphatically, that we do not entertain the thought for a moment that our schools can in any way be substituted for those whose object is the general education of the people. On the contrary, we believe that in any healthy system of education, the special school can only supplement and be founded on the general school. We have no desire to offer any inducements to young men to draw them away from their general studies prematurely, for we believe that the highest culture is just as essential to those who would occupy high positions in business life, as to any other class of citizens."

In the next class of schools giving a commercial training are the secondary schools. It is within only a very few years that school authorities have come to realize that high schools should be both finishing schools and fitting schools. The former for those who enter upon the stern duties of life immediately after graduation, and the latter for those who go on to higher institutions of learning. It is with the hope of making the high school a finishing school that the commercial studies have been incorporated in its curriculum, and greater emphasis placed upon them.

This step has not generally been favored by professional educators, but they have been forced to make the advance by the sentiment favorable today in the community, and the influence of practical business men on the school committee. Within the past ten years this course has become so popular that some of our large cities among them New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Washington and Boston, have established independent commercial high schools. The course in such schools includes the special commercial branches, and such additional subjects as algebra, history, French or German, chemistry, physiology, astronomy, and economics.

In the third class of institutions giving special training along commercial lines are many of our colleges and universities. It was not until 1881 that any higher institution of learning adopted the name and idea of a college of commerce, but since that time a score have added departments and organized independent schools to develop professional business men. In the minds of their advocates these departments were organized by enlarged commercial operations, and the demands of our public service. Their inauguration was also encouraged by the success of higher technical education in other directions. The New England colleges which have taken a decided stand regarding the establishment of such courses are Dartmouth, Harvard, Yale and University of Vermont. Of these, Dartmouth takes the lead in the progress made toward perfecting its course, and in its equipment. Its plan is different from other colleges in that it offers the commercial course either as a post graduate course or after three years of college work, in much the same way that professional study is offered to those preparing for the law or ministry. In other colleges, these branches are taken in connection with other courses beginning with the first year, after the plan followed in high schools. The curriculum of the commercial department of the college includes such subjects as economics, history, political science, sociology, modern languages, accounting and auditing, corporation finance and securities, administration, law statistics and mathematics, business organization and technique, commerce, banking, transportation, and insurance.

With these three types of schools before us, each occupying a distinct place and offering a different course, which shall we say is the best?

The commercial school course is brief but may be lengthened at the option of the pupil; the high school course takes the commercial work in homeopathic doses and often counteracts the desired effect by giving many other studies not directly related to business and spreading it over so long a period that the beginning of the course is forgotten before the end is reached; the college course, in the opinion of a prominent and practical business educator, "is a scholastic melange; some of it would be useful to somebody; some of it would be useful to everybody; all of it would be useful to nobody."

Personally I believe that the best results are obtained by acquiring as good a general education as possible consistent with one's means and circumstances and then supplementing it with a thorough course in only such subjects as pertain directly to business. Under these conditions the student takes a lively interest in this special course and starts upon his life work with confidence and enthusiasm, two very valuable assets for one making his way in the world."

THEATRES

Tremont Theatre—"A Knight for a Day," the new musical play presented at the Tremont Theatre Monday evening, has scored one of the biggest musical comedy hits of the theatre's career. Boston is sure to keep Comedian John Blavin and his principal feminine comic partner, Miss May Vokes, working eight times weekly all summer, with possibly an extra performance or two sandwiched in between. The ladder elopement scene showing the near-knight of the piece—a little waiter masquerading as a nobleman whose papers he's stolen—trying to get his lady love, a boarding school chore girl—away from home to marry her evokes roars nightly that fairly shake the theatre. A hundred times throughout the performance, the audience rocks with mirth and gasps for breath between laugh spasms. The production is beautifully staged, the many beauty choruses handsome and of good voices, and the score of the gaily the most tuneful of the year. The big spectacular effects of the performance eclipse in novelty and splendor any electrical advertisements ever seen on a Boston stage. This is notably true of the giant sea saw of a thousand lights and the great falling star curtain. It goes without saying that the big song hits of the show will be sung all summer. Matinees are given on Wednesday and Saturday.

Boston Theatre—The popularity of a book play is shown by the great interest that is being manifested in "In the Bishop's Carriage," which will be produced at the Boston Theatre next week. At the Boston Theatre a splendid production has been arranged for, one that will have the advantage of the big stage of this grand old play-house and special scenery. The members of the Boston Theatre stock company have become intensely interested in it, especially those who will take the leading parts, including Miss Eleanor Gordon, Mr. Wilson Melrose, Mr. Friebe, Mr. George Parker, Miss Oliver and Miss Morison. It is depicted that this will be one of the biggest hits of a most successful season.

Keith's Theatre—There is only one animal act in vaudeville worthy of being used as the headline feature of a bill at Keith's and that is Barnold's famous troupe of monkey and dog pantomimists, which is to lead next week's program. The sketch feature will be presented by Jane Kennark, James Horne and Frederic Murray, all three great favorites in Boston. They are to play that bright comedy, "The Way to Win a Woman," "In Bandanna Land," Williams and Walker's great success, has closed for the season, so sixteen of the male members of the company have been banded together for the summer under the name of the Williams and Walker Glee Club. Their rendition of ensemble numbers will cause a sensation. Ben Welch, with his remarkable delineations of Hebrew and Italian characters, is to pay his annual visit. He has some new songs and patter. The Jack Wilson Trio, in a fast moving black-face skit, which introduces some great dancing; Ralph Smalley, the Boston Symphony Orchestra cellist, with a pleasing program; The Kratoons, who have made hooprolling a science; Wills and Hassan, two remarkable American acrobats; Max Witt's Colleens, four comly Irish girls who sing the Old Irish songs; Kelso and Leighton, in a lively sketch called "The Lady Burglar"; Tom Bateman, character comedian and dancer; The Zarnes, aerial acrobats, and new Kinetograph pictures will fill out the program.

HISTORIC MEMORIAL

At the last meeting of the Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, held at the home of the Regent, Miss Clara J. Coburn, some plans for future patriotic work were made which will be of general interest in Newton.

After the reports of committees and routine business was over, Mrs. Hornbrook said she had a motion to make which seemed to her important, and that was that a committee on Historic Memorials should be appointed whose business should be to place suitable memorial tablets or erect a monument to the soldiers of Newton who served in the War for Independence.

She said in part, that when she came to Newton, a young woman, over twenty-five years ago that it seemed to her to be a very new community for almost every one of her experiences first calls told of their experiences when they moved to Newton; but after awhile she found that there was a goodly nucleus of people who belonged to Newton by birth and ancestry, their forebears having been here almost from the first settlement of the country, and that Jacks, Fullers, Wards, Wiswells, Townbrows, Petties, Hydes, Bacons, Murdocks, Kenricks, and many other familiar names had been here for generations.

Newton, she said, had been a most loyal town in the Revolution, and equally so as her sister towns of Concord, Lexington and Cambridge, but owing to her not having been a battle ground, and that the marching of the continental army was on the other side of the river, it did not have the dramatic interest of having been the scene of action; but the men of Newton stood by their country and were in every well fought field of battle, giving their lives if need be for their country. There were forty-three men from Newton by the name of Jackson in the war. Newton had never seemed to have her historic due.

Mrs. Hornbrook did not think that most people even in the town itself, realized the important part it took.

That they should be better informed she hoped that at some time in the near future some worthy memorial should be erected to the Newton soldiers of the Revolution, and moved that the Sarah Hull Chapter inaugurate such a work. This motion was enthusiastically carried, and a committee on Historic Memorials was appointed, consisting of the present and former regents, Mrs. Alexander M. Ferris, Mrs. Francis E. Stanley, Mrs. Frank T. Benner, Mrs. Albert F. Hayward, Miss Clara J. Coburn, Mrs. Francis B. Hornbrook, chairman, and Mrs. Mabel L. Priest.

To make a practical start to raise money for the memorial, Mrs. Ferris proposed that the Chapter should have a sale in the early fall, and offered her house for the purpose.

The offer was gratefully accepted; a committee was appointed, the ladies planned to work during the vacation season, and it looks as if the work so long neglected of having a memorial to our revolutionary heroes, might be accomplished at last.

Nowadays when truth is crushed to earth it howls for an investigating committee.

MRS. JUDKINS DEAD

Mrs. Mary Frances North, widow of Amos C. Judkins, died at her residence in Newtonville, on the evening of May 26, aged 69 years and 25 days.

Mrs. Judkins was born in Ticonderoga, N. Y., and grew up under the influence of revolutionary traditions. When she was nine years old her parents went west settling in Wisconsin, then a pioneer state. She often recalled interesting incidents of the early days. When she was nineteen, fired by ambition for an education she came east and after studying two years in the Bridgewater Normal school she became a teacher in Norway, Maine, where she met Mr. Judkins, whom she married July 13, 1868.

She has lived in Newtonville about 25 years having buried two sons, and two years ago her husband. She leaves one daughter, adopted in 1900.

Mrs. Judkins was a woman of decided character, and of strong attachments. She had a keen bright mind, was fond of books and of travel, but with a strong practical bent. Her quick sense of humor never failed and was a great resource through years of illness and sorrow.

She was a member and loyal supporter of the Central Congregational church and one of its first deaconesses also a member of the Travellers Club which she organized in 1890.

The funeral services were held in the Newton Cemetery chapel Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. E. F. Bell.

REV. DR. WOOD RESIGNS

Rev. Dr. Nathan E. Wood, president of the Newton theological institution resigned his office three weeks ago at a special meeting of the board of trustees Monday the resignation was considered and accepted, and a committee was appointed to select a successor.

Rev. Dr. Wood said that although he had only recently submitted his resignation he had been considering taking such action for more than a year and a half.

"My resignation will not take effect until Jan. 1 next because I can not see my way clear to relinquish my duties in the institution until one important addition is made," said Dr. Wood. In October the Gordon school, for many years situated in Boston, will be merged into the Newton theological institution and I want to have everything running smoothly before I leave.

"My reason for resigning is that I am tired from overwork. Complete harmony has always existed between the trustees and students of the institution and myself."

At the residence of Rev. Dr. Wood it was stated that he would take a year's rest before again taking up active work in the church. He is professor of theology at the seminary, and his resignation as president will also vacate his professor's chair.

Rev. Dr. Wood is widely known as a theologian. He was born in Forestville, N. Y. in 1849. He was educated at Wayland academy, Beaver Dam, Wis., university of Chicago and Baptist union theological seminary.

After filling a pastorate in Chicago from 1875 to 1877 he became principal of Wayland academy, resigning in 1884. He was pastor of churches in Chicago, Brooklyn, N. Y., Brookline and Boston until 1899, when he was elected president of the Newton theological seminary.
